School lunches to be revamped

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Revisions in the student lunch program were ordered by the Granite City School Board on Tuesday night, and board members indicated the possibility later this year of even more sweeping changes affecting lunches.

Immediate decisions were made to add five cents to the cost of each lunch, due to a cut in the federal reimbursement, and to replace malted milks and milk shakes with regular milk in the basic high school lunch offering.

Effective dates for these changes are to be set in early February. Approval is needed from the state to boost the lunch price to 75 cents for elementary pupils and 85 cents for junior high and high school students. The adult price will advance to $1.70.

Removal of milk shakes from the "Type A" lunch as an economy measure was one of the proposals in a 40-page study of Granite City schools' food service, made by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co.

Also scheduled to be given early attention is a recommendation to provide self-service salad bars at high schools, Supt. B. J. Davis said.

Other food service changes are to be studied by administrators and board members for possible implementation on a gradual basis.

Purposes of the detailed analysis costing $7,500 are cafeteria cost control and service improvements.

Among the alternatives studied this winter were combining part-time jobs into full-time positions, and establishing satellite food operations, with one cafeteria serving several schools.

Michael B. Andreas of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell conferred briefly with the board Tuesday night and noted that fringe benefits on a national basis average 36 percent of wages.

The report asserts that benefits average 59 percent of total wage costs for Granite City school cafeteria workers.

It adds, "The two most expensive benefits are medical insurance and Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund payments. The IMRF payments are mandatory for non-certificated employees who work 600 hours or more per year. The medical insurance cost appears high because Granite City schools, unlike most other surveyed districts, provide dependent insurance coverage at no cost to both full-time and part-time cafeteria employees."

Administrators and board members praised Andreas for the thoroughness of the report and said it will take some time to evaluate all its ramifications.

Supt. Davis commented to the board, "As you recall, one reason the malts were added to the plate lunches was to help keep students on the campus at South High, where we have an open campus. This has been successful, based on statistics from Orval Overhulser, director of cafeterias. But the cost has been more than we can afford."

"Another item we are considering is installation of salad bars at the high school level. Salad bars, with the proper vegetables and meats, along with a carton of milk, would constitute a Type A lunch. In talks with high school students, this would appear to be desirable, and we hope to bring this to the board in the near future."

Overhulser advised the board that the lunch reimbursement from the federal government has been reduced from 18½ cents to 16 cents effective Jan. 1.

1981. The change applies to all "A" plates, including reduced-price and free lunches.

He added, "Based on semiannual adjustments reflecting inflation over the last three years, we anticipated a probable 3½-cent increase in the rate effective Jan. 1. Instead, there was a 2½-cent decrease; this reduction is only one of several steps taken regarding the lunch program in an attempt by Congress to reduce federal spending and balance the budget."

"The semiannual adjustment will no longer be made; the rate established on June 1, we hope, will be in effect for the entire year in the future. The present reduction can be justified only as a decrease in federal spending."

"For our district, the reduction means loss of $15,000 which we otherwise would have received. Had there been an upward adjustment, our receipts would have been about $20,000 more. In 1979-80 we served 1,088,214 meals—471,189 through December and 617,025—or 56.7 percent of the year's total—in January through May."

Overhulser said he feels a price

GC blocks county sewer okay; wants signed contract

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

Hopes of opening the new sanitary sewers in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships this week, or even this month, were shattered by the Granite City Council Tuesday night as the aldermen voted unanimously to prohibit sewer tap ons, until there is a written contract between the city and the county.

The issue could halt use of the new sewers until after the ground freezes, making it unlikely that many homes will connect to the new sewers before spring.

Unless the two sides can agree immediately on the wording of a contract, which seems unlikely, there will be a serious financial impact on both the sewer district and on the county, which loaned $891,000 of county highway department funds to the sewer district to help the district pay its bills until the sewers are finally accepted and the Environmental Protection Agency releases its final grant payment.

In sports, it would be called a balk.

Jan. 6, the Granite City Council approved an ordinance setting the rates for sewage treatment, bond retirement and past debt retirement at $18 per quarter (each three months) for households. The sewer district planned to charge an additional $17.40 per home for maintaining the sewers and operating the sewer district, a total of $35.40 per quarter, or $11.80 per month.

The county board called a special meeting Jan. 14 and approved an ordinance which calls for the same treatment rates as the city ordinance and City Attorney John Papa concluded that the two sides were in agreement and use of the new sanitary sewers could begin, at last.

The sewer district started preparations for the first tap-on, Metals plant on Route 3 north of Pontoon Road, which has been unable to heat the building for a lack of sewers in which to dump the boiler wastes.

Everything was gearing up to begin hooking homes onto the new sewers when the first hint came that something was wrong.

Sewer District Superintendent Gene Futch attended a public hearing on a proposed pretreatment program for the city and had an opportunity to talk to Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward just before the council meeting.

"Sam told me he was going to do everything he could to stop us from using the sewers," Futch related.

It was Whitmer who brought the issue before the council, recommending that the city instruct the sewer district not to tap any home or business onto the sewers until there is a signed contract between the city and the county, "dotting the last 'i' and crossing the last 't'."

Whitmer said newspaper accounts he has read indicate there are differences between the ordinances passed by the county and by the city, and those differences could lead to misunderstandings and fights on the treatment rate in the future.

"We've got to pin the townships down. If not, they're going to weasel on us," Whitmer contended.

One main block has been Whitmer's contention that the $5 per quarter included in the treatment charge for past

Vote to safeguard the privacy of school records

The Granite City School Board acted Tuesday night to establish privacy for many school records, over the strenuous objections of Board Member David Partney.

Partney has sought to pursue an activist role and said he might be hampered by the proposed new policy during his investigations of school district transactions.

Other board members took the position that Partney sometimes attempts to act as a school administrator rather than as part of a seven-member policy-setting group. The policy was enacted 5-1, with Board Member Monroe Worthen absent.

Receiving special attention was a policy statement that "all records other than those provided above shall not be made available for public inspection unless first approved by the Board of Education, the superintendent or other person in charge of the records sought to be inspected."

Superintendent B. J. Davis was asked to define those records remaining open to the public, and cited the board's policy introduction.

"Reports and records of the obligation, receipt and use of public funds of the board and the school district are public records available for inspection by the public. Board rules and policies will also be available for public inspection. Other records will also be available for inspection as required by law."

Supporting adoption of the board policy committee's recommendation were President Stephen Saltich, Secretary Thomas G. Miosfsky, Treasurer George E. Moore, Robert Maxwell and Donald Stucke.

Requirements for inspection of reports and records will include a notice in writing, submitted to the superintendent at least 24 hours prior to inspection.

The notice must specify "with reasonable particularity" which records are to be inspected, and they must be seen at the board and administrative office between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. on days the office is open. At the discretion of the superintendent, such records may be inspected or copied only in the presence of an

City to repair Nameoki sewer

While the drought in this area is causing problems for barge traffic and some farmers, it has proven a blessing to Granite City's ongoing program to repair sewer breaks.

Granite City Street Superintendent Lionel Portell said that for the first time since the 1973 flood in this area, the groundwater level is low enough that a major sewer break in the Nameoki School yard can be repaired without dewatering the ground around it.

He said he believes the break can be repaired by city employees for one-third of what the cost would be if dewatering by a contractor was required and he suggested the repairs begin immediately, before spring rains raise the water table. The council gave him the authority to proceed immediately.

Although the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration office denied the city's requests for additional funds to repair the break, FDAA did release $43,000 of the $96,000 the city estimated it would cost to repair. After the work is done, the city may apply for supplemental aid from FDAA, it was indicated.

Portell said that he believes his department can replace the broken line for the available $43,000. However, he suggested, the city should hire approximately six temporary employees for the street department to conduct the routine duties of the street department, since six men will be taken off their duties to repair the sewer.

The repair work will take from 45 days to two months to complete, Portell estimated.

Rainfall in the Quad-City area is 15 inches below normal since Jan. 1, 1979. The river stage on the Mississippi at the locks here is minus 1.1 feet, or 44 feet below the April 1973 flood stage which reached 43.3 feet.

Portell said it was fortunate that the disagreement with federal disaster office dragged on over several years because the city had no expectations the ground water table would ever be below the Nameoki School yard break. FDAA indicated it may not pay for work done before assistance was approved, so the city has refused to repair the break to date. However, Portell estimates, the break can be repaired for the amount FDAA has released, since the groundwater has dropped.

The council gave Portell the authority to begin repairing the sewer break, but to present a complete financial estimate to the council at its next meeting. "The cost should be fixed. We just can't give you a blank check," Mayor Paul Schuler told Portell.

Portell agreed to present his estimated cost to the council at the next meeting, Jan. 27.

Mayor learns committee to fix salaries 'hard to find'

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

While it may seem odd, the special sewer committee of the Granite City Council has been given the task of determining what aldermen and city officials should be paid the next four years.

The reason that the special sewer committee got that task was simple—it was the only standing committee Mayor Paul Schuler could find that did not have at least one member running for a city office in the April election.

The task traditionally has been given to the council's finance committee, but that committee's chairman, Paul Ray Bowler, is seeking re-election as alderman of the Seventh Ward, and another member, Warren Decatur, is a candidate for mayor. That leaves Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman as the only member of that three-man com-

Two 14-year-old boys were arrested at Granite City High School North at 9:30 a.m. Friday in possession of drug capsules known as "black beauties" and small amounts of marijuana.

One boy was seen sniffing a white powder in the school and was detained by school officials until police arrived. Officers alleged finding four capsules and some marijuana in a plastic bag in the boy's clothing.

He said he purchased the bag from another North student and the boy named was questioned and admitted purchasing some marijuana and 10 black beauties from another boy he did not know Wednesday and then selling five capsules and some marijuana to the first boy arrested.

Both boys were suspended for 10 days pending a hearing before the board of education.

Police also were told there was a drug problem at Granite City High School South the same day, but school officials decided to handle it, without the aid of police, according to police records.

Planning the new home

County Home Economics Advisor
University of Illinois
Urbana-Champaign

Winter months give prospective home builders a chance to choose a site for spring construction and to plan the home's orientation on that site. If you're going to build, taking time to scan and plan can affect how satisfied you will be with your new home.

If you have a chance to look over prospective lots for your building venture before the snow covers them, do so. Take pictures of the lot from all angles. Label the pictures to show location and direction.

It is also a good idea to make a scale drawing of the site. Be sure to include any trees, roads, streams, knolls or depressions that may influence the orientation of the house on the lot.

Then start planning. Take advantage of good views. The areas in the home used during the day should have pleasant views. Arrange the living zones—living rooms, dining rooms and kitchens—so they reveal a nice view to persons seated in these rooms. Remember, though, that this may not always be possible, and views do change in time. Plan to block unsightly areas with fences, screens or landscaping.

Also, consider where family activities will take place. Homemakers who like to watch outside activities from the working area of the house may want a kitchen or family room to look out on a play area. Farm families may want a view of farm traffic.

Orient the house to make best use of the sun. To benefit from sunlight, face as many rooms as possible to the south.

Consider the ways in which angles of sunlight vary with the time of day and the season. Generally speaking, the angle of the sun above the horizon at noon is about 30 degrees in winter and 60 degrees in summer for latitudes near 50 degrees north. The design of the roof overhang controls the amount of sunlight entering the house. A well-designed roof overhang shields the interior from the heat and glare of the summer sun and still lets in the winter sun's warmth.

Think about prevailing winds when you orient the house on the lot. Try to avoid placing the house in the path of the northwest wind. If you must place the entrance on the house's north-west side, protect the entry way. Shield it with protecting walls, screens, fences or landscape features.

On farm lots, plan the house so the land slopes away from the house and the prevailing wind hits the most protected side of the house.

The home's orientation is so small matter. And time home builders spend this way in considering the house's placement on the lot can pay off in years of satisfying living in a pleasing house.

Alcoholic treatment unit okayed

An alcoholic treatment facility will soon be opening at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The Hazelden Foundation of Minnesota, with internationally recognized expertise in alcoholic rehabilitation, is providing consultation services to a program director and medical staff committee to get the program underway.

The 20-bed unit, to be located on the ground floor of the Ketteler Center building, will provide detoxification and rehabilitation services for patients suffering the disease of alcoholism.

The medical center is currently interviewing applicants for directorship of the unit.

Roger Franck, SEMC assistant vice-president, said, "A major responsibility of the director of the program will be to cooperate and reinforce the community network of services already in existence, such as the Madison County Council on Alcohol and Drug Dependence, ARCH (Alcoholic Rehabilitation), Alcoholics Anonymous and others."

SEMC received approval for the facility from the Greater St. Louis Health Systems' Agency in December. On Jan. 9, the Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board also granted approval.

Wolf seeks ban on drug-abuse drivers

State Representative Sam Wolf (D), Granite City, this week noted that the Illinois Motor Vehicle Laws Commission's report, "Marijuana and Driving," has been released to the General Assembly.

"In this report, corroborated by a current report of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, the commission indicated that the present state of the art with respect to drugs and driving is in about the same degree of development as we were with alcohol and driving 40 years ago," Wolf said.

"Although most of the drug-impaired data is of practical experience in nature, there also are impressive indicators which imply that the drug-influenced driver is potentially contributing to the rise in the severity of traffic crashes.

"For example, through the first nine months of 1980, Illinois experienced a tragic increase of 45 traffic fatalities over the previous year of 1979 and a catastrophic increase of almost 14,000 personal injuries.

"The incredible part of these statistics lies in the fact that during this same period, there were over 92,000 fewer traffic collisions," Wolf continued.

"Most of these increases occurred in urban areas where the availability and usage of illicit drugs are most common.

"As the commission's report indicates, even though there is no degree of certainty the drug-impaired driver impacted these figures, the available scientific data would tend to indicate it has."

A member of the Motor Vehicle Laws Commission, Wolf said the major recommendation contained in the "Marijuana and Driving" report mirrors the federal government's request that all states adopt the Uniform Vehicle Code's provisions on driving under the influence of alcohol and/or any other drug.

Adoption of "implied consent" rules would help provide a basis for an effective deterrent program aimed at drug-impaired drivers, he added, concluding:

"This will entail a substantive revision of the Illinois Vehicle Code which will be introduced into the 82nd General Assembly by the Motor Vehicle Laws Commission."

Proof for food stamps

People applying for food stamps will be asked to provide more proof of information on the regulations under rules just announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. A new rule will give states added authority to require proof from every applicant of household size, as well as all shelter and child care expenses used to determine eligibility and benefits. The rule will allow states to require documentation of these factors, whether or not the information supplied by the applicant appears questionable.

In addition, the regulations will put into effect legislation enacted in May 1980 that allows states to develop a profile of the types of food stamp cases and eligibility factors most subject to error.

Other changes will require verification of household identity and residency in every case. The rule also clarifies the state's authority for securing verification of information provided by destitute households seeking emergency food stamps.

These changes are in addition to present verification requirements. Currently, all people applying for food stamps must document their income, Social Security number and certain medical and utility expenses. People who are not U.S. citizens must prove that they are legal aliens who have been admitted to this country for permanent residence.

Heads industrial group

Robert J. Walters, executive director of the Southwestern Illinois Industrial Association, was recently elected in Chicago to the presidency of the Illinois Industrial Council.

The IIC created nearly 60 years ago, is an organization of regional industrial associations and chambers of commerce. Coordinated by the Illinois Manufacturers' Association and comprised of the principal staff executives of the member associations, the group's primary purpose is to coordinate views and actions of different business groups in matters of state legislation.

It also serves as a forum for association managers to exchange ideas on association programs and services.

SIIA is dedicated to making Illinois more inviting than ever to the business community by promoting the free private enterprise system.

appropriate employee of the board and school district.

The new policy relates that "although a request for inspection of records shall nevertheless not be available for public inspection when in immediate use by persons exercising official duties which require the use of the records."

"Such records shall, however, be available as soon as they are no longer needed for such official duties."

"Records shall also not be available for public inspection if such inspection will unduly interfere with the proper operation of the board or school district."

"Reports and records shall not be available for public inspection if such inspection invades or assists in the invasion of any person's right to privacy or is prohibited by law, such as in the case of student school or education records."

"The board and district do not undertake the obligation to necessarily make and provide copies of reports and records available for public inspection, except as required by law. Generally, copies of more than five pages of materials will not be provided."

"To the extent copies are provided, a charge of 35 cents per page not exceeding legal size will be made, except as otherwise provided by law. The inspector of such records may, however, make copies consistent with the discretion of the superintendent, records may be inspected or copied in the presence of an appropriate school employee."

The statement concludes, "This policy on school board records shall not apply to student school or education records. Such records shall be subject to the provisions of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act and the Illinois Student School Records Act."

Partney said he opposes the policy if it applies to the board. "We can't act as an individual board member, but we do need to do research before selling policy or 'figuring out approval,'" he contended.

Supt. Davis said, "The administration can only act at the board's instruction. If the board wishes to change this, the board should tell us."

Partney said board members sometimes need information on an employee or potential employee to aid in making board decisions. He added that he wishes to be able to gather and submit such information to the board from time to time for discussion and consideration.

Miofsky urged that he be specific about policy provisions that he disagrees with.

Partney cited inspection in the presence of a record keeper but later said he does not object to that rule.

He next opposed advance approval for record inspection—approval required from the board or superintendent—regarding records unrelated to receipts, expenditures and board rules.

Supt. Davis said certain personnel records and interoffice administrative memos are not required to be made public, and should not be. He noted the existence of a privacy law and said it provides for rulings to be appealed to the courts.

Partney stressed that, when preparing to vote on insurance matters, the board needs full information and knowledge.

Miofsky said information is available to the board on the types of insurance claims, but not identified with the name of a specific person.

Partney said, "If a board member gets good information that a particular individual is abusing the rights—and I'm not saying this is happening—then he should be able to check on it."

Pres. Salchert agreed that such leads should be followed up, but said a board member can accomplish any necessary "detective work" through contact with, and investigation by, the superintendent.

The 5-1 policy adoption vote followed.

change in mid-year could prove disruptive and counterproductive, by reducing participation.

Dale C. Rea, assistant to the superintendent, recommended the price hike, citing deficits and urging that "the community be made aware that Congressional actions and economies have a direct effect locally."

"We have an obligation to explain when there is a state or federal failure to adequately fund a program, resulting in decreased services or increased local cost."

Supt. Davis concurred in suggesting a five-cent increase, noting that the public will be given a week's notice following state approval of such a price change.

GC blocks county sewer

debt retirement should be continued, even after the township residents have repaid their fair share of the amount which city residents already have paid to retire the bonds on the city's giant treatment plant.

Special Sewer Committee Chairman Louis Whittell told his committee recently that the $5 bill when that debt (estimated at $339,670) is paid.

Newspaper accounts of Whittell's statement infuriated Whittell, who said he feels the $5 charge should continue until the bonds are completely paid off. "I don't think Whittell and those people are on the wavelength as we are. I suggest the township be told in the morning not to tap on, until we have another meeting, and we are dead set on what Granite City wants them to do," Whittell said.

Alderman Charles Douglas of the First Ward, who has stressed at previous council meetings that he feels a written contract is needed, joined with Whittell in asking that the sewer program be halted, pending additional negotiations.

"I think we need a definite agreement, a written contract, so their laws say the same thing as our laws," Douglas contended.

Whittell made the motion to instruct the county not to tap on any homes or industries to the city and Douglas seconded the motion.

Papa said he feels a contract with the county is unnecessary. "We have an agreement. I do not think we have the problem that Mr. Whittell is discussing," he told the council and Mayor Paul Schuler added, "I don't think so either."

Nonetheless, when it became obvious that the majority of the council wanted a written agreement, Schuler called for a voice vote on the motion and it passed unanimously.

Upon learning Wednesday morning of the council's action, Whittell, counsel, "I figured they would give us a hard way."

He said he planned to contact the sewer committee's attorney, H. Carl Tunge, immediately and determine what path the sewer committee now wishes to follow.

"It all depends on what they really want. A long delay will mean we will have to go into court. As far as I was concerned, we had a contract with the county board (in 1972) (former mayor) Don Partney (in 1972) and were ready to go to court to prove we had a contract. We still might have to," Whittell concluded.

"Futch commented that it's just a shame we can't get together and get these things turned on, as bad as we need them out here."

"It could cause me to have to lay somebody off, if we don't get this thing moving. There is just not that much work right now, just running the pumps, and it looks very bad," he noted.

The sewer district currently employs four persons—Futch, Foreman Paul Bennett, a laborer and a clerk.

Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer said he was shocked to learn of the council's latest refusal. "I thought we had everything squared away," Hagnauer commented. He said that Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith, legal advisor to the county board, was in his office and they would go to work immediately to attempt to resolve the latest impasse.

A lengthy delay could cause chaos to the county's cash flow, since the $691,000 loaned to the sewer district in September was to have been a short-term loan and the funds are now needed by the highway department.

In addition, until the EPA releases its five percent final payment of the grant and until the county begins bringing operating funds into the sewer district, additional borrowing may be necessary to keep the district operating and the county board is not likely to look too kindly on any request by the sewer committee for more money, at least until the highway department loan is repaid.

Mayor learns

mittee who is not a candidate this April. The council must set salaries for the mayor, city clerk, city treasurer and aldermen. Also, the council, when seated as the town board of Granite City Township, must set the salaries for the township supervisor and tax assessor.

Alderman currently receive $75 per meeting (three meetings per month), plus $10 for each meeting of the town board (two per month) and $50 a month for expenses, a total of $295 per month.

Near election time, the granting of raises to aldermen and city officials is always a "hairly thing," in the words of Third Ward Alderman Roy "Chic" Poulos, who is not seeking re-election. "I'll be a lame duck—in this case a lame duck—and I can't see raising anybody's salary now. We're trying to save some money," Poulos stated.

Alderman Sam Whittell of the Second Ward said he feels the full-time elected officials deserve raises, since they depend on their salaries for a living and their living expenses keep rising with inflation.

However, Whittell said he is opposed to raising the pay for aldermen for the next four years. "These are part-time jobs. Not one of us depends on this for our bread and butter. We now earn $22 a month, plus $50 expenses, plus $20 from the township," he noted.

Alderman Bowler, who is from the Seventh Ward, agreed, saying, "We chose to run for the job we did. Under the present economic situation... at some point it's all going to have to slow down."

He said the latest census indicates a decrease in population which will mean reductions in motor fuel taxes, sales taxes, community development, revenue sharing and other funds to the city which are distributed on the basis of population.

Alderman Paul Fisk of the Third Ward agreed that the mayor, city clerk and city treasurer should get raises. "It's not fair to give everyone else in the city a raise and not consider these three officers. This is their sole source of income. It would be short-sided if we overlooked them," he stated.

Schuler asked if the three aldermen who are not running for a post this April would volunteer to be on an ad-hoc committee to recommend salaries and there were no volunteers.

On a motion by Alderman Charles Douglas of the First Ward, the council then threw the "hot potato" into the hands of the special sewer committee, which is made up of Alderman Mac Warfield of the Sixth Ward, Everett Morlen of the First Ward and Margaret Norn of the Fifth Ward. Warfield is the chairman.

2 Nameoki slates file

The two announced parties seeking Nameoki Township offices this April officially filed their candidacies with Town Clerk Douglas Teeter Monday, the first day of the filing period.

First to file was the United with Progress Party, headed by Harry Briggs, a former Nameoki supervisor, who is seeking that position again.

Others who filed on the slate are the current supervisor, Harold Davis, who is running for highway commissioner; Teeter, Tax Assessor Carl Macios and Tax Collector Freda Ballou, all seeking re-election to their current posts.

Trustee candidates on the slate are W. Lee Adams, Andy Besserman, Jerry and Jim Counts, all incumbents.

A short time later, the Progressive Action Party filed to become candidates. It is headed by Richard Kistner, candidate for supervisor.

On that ticket are Lee Ridgeway for town clerk, Norman Hall for tax collector, David Partney for tax assessor and Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic, who is seeking re-election.

Trustee candidates on the Progressive Action Party are Mrs. Helen Hawkins, Joseph Garcia, Jan Langenstein and Don Wilson.

Social Security credit is figured differently now

Most people know that they have to earn a certain number of credits under Social Security in order to qualify for benefits under the program, but many people do not realize that the method for determining these credits, or "quarters of coverage," has changed, according to Social Security officials at 60 Missouri Ave., East St. Louis (telephone 274-4100).

For many years, wages were reported to Social Security on a quarterly basis. A quarter of coverage was earned each time $50 or more in wages was reported for a worker during a calendar quarter.

At the present time, however, wages are reported to Social Security on an annual basis and the number of quarters earned depends on the total wages paid in the year.

For example, in 1980, one quarter of coverage was granted for each $220 in earnings, so a person needed to earn $1,100 or more in the year to receive credit for all four quarters.

In 1981, a person will receive a quarter of coverage for each $10 of earnings and total earnings of $1,240 will be required to receive credit for all four quarters of the year.

A person who reaches age 62 in 1981 will need 30 quarters of coverage or about 7½ years of work under Social Security to become entitled to retirement benefits.

Water Co. under fire in Madison

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

The repair service of the Illinois-American Water Co. will not be allowed to do any repair work in the city of Madison without first checking with the superintendent of streets or Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk. The Illinois-American Water Company came under heavy criticism at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Madison City Council.

Fifth Ward Alderman Don Garrett said, "When water pipes break in Ward Five the water company does a poor job in repairing and putting things back the way it was."

"The streets look like checkerboards and they will tear up a concrete sidewalk and put it back with asphalt."

"I don't see why this has to be," Garrett said.

Third Ward Alderman Elmer Smith said, "That bad repair work is not just in Ward Five it is all over the city. I can show you numerous spots where the water company has done a very bad job of repair."

Mayor Sasyk said that he will call a meeting of the aldermanic street and alley committee and the water company people to see what can be done to rectify the numerous complaints.

Representatives of the water company could not be reached Wednesday for comment.

Second Ward Alderman William Gushoff suggested that a plaque honoring the hostages and in memory of the eight men killed in the rescue attempt be made and placed in the Madison Memorial Center.

The council concurred. At the request of the Bethel AME Church, Sunday Feb. 8 will be declared Richard Allan day after the national founder of the African Methodist Episcopal Church (AME).

The council accepted a report that shows $1,460 received during the month of December 1980 in fines. The council approved the preparation of tax anticipation warrants to be repaid in August, if needed. A separate ordinance is to be drawn up for each levy that may need to be changed.

Mayor Sasyk said, "We have been working on some of our financial problems for some time. We have to solve some problems which I believe we will do."

Incumbents in Chouteau run again

Walter "Dick" Sparks, supervisor of Chouteau Township, has filed for re-election to that post, heading a full township slate dominated by incumbents.

The United Township Party, headed by Sparks, is the only party which has filed thus far with Chouteau Township Clerk Patricia Polley, who also is seeking re-election on the ticket.

The only new name is Josephine J. Borge, candidate for the trustee position being created by the retirement of Charles Seeking re-election on the ticket are Cletus Bedwell, tax collector; M. Sparks, tax assessor; Wilfred "Bud" Eberhardt, highway commissioner, and trustees, Dudley Luebber, Thomas Johnson and Steve Novosel.

An estimated 100 passenger auto tires were stolen in a burglary Tuesday night at the O'Brien Tire Center, Nameoki and Pontoon roads. Entrance was gained by knocking a hole in a concrete block warehouse wall at the southwest corner of the building.

A.O. Smith lost money in '80

A. O. Smith Corporation's fourth quarter earnings were level with a year ago on a modest drop in sales, L. B. Smith, chairman and chief executive officer, reported Monday.

For the year, the company reported a loss, due primarily to the recession in the U. S. auto, housing and agricultural equipment industries and the closing of its large manufacturing plant for auto frames in Granite City, Smith said.

Sales in the fourth quarter were $176,154,000 with earnings of $7,201,000, or $1.47 per share, compared with sales in the fourth quarter of 1979 of $187,659,000 and earnings of $7,260,000, also listed as $1.47 a share.

For all of 1980, sales were $693,684,000, down 17 per cent from 1979 sales of $836,433,000.

The company had a loss in 1980 of $1,703,000, or 35 cents per share, compared with profits in 1979 of $23,612,000.

Hostages welcome

hostages and in memory of the eight American servicemen who died in last April's aborted rescue attempt.

The plaque will be permanently displayed at the Madison Memorial Center, Seventh Street and Lee Avenue in Madison. It will be unveiled in special ceremonies on Wednesday, Feb. 25, during a family night program of Explorer Post 10-4.

"Wednesday, the hostages' first full day of freedom, Quad-Cityans voiced their feelings on the release. 'My reaction was the same as everybody else's,'" said Jack Mulach of Grandview City, principal of Maryville Grade School. "I'm glad they were released and nothing happened to the planes in the air. Up to the last minute, we still weren't sure what they (the Iranians) would do. When you're dealing with militants instead of the actual government, it's a little different."

Madison Police Lt. William Papa said, "I'm glad they're all released and safe. I hope they won't have any effects or mental problems after their long confinement."

"Another Madison resident, Bernie Bosworth, should know about the effects of long confinement. He was a prisoner of war in World War II for nearly 18 months. Bosworth was held by Nazis in Stalag 17-B in Krems, Austria, from Nov. 5, 1943, to May 2, 1945. "I'm real glad they've been released," said Bosworth. "But I can't see them making a big show out of it. They don't look like they've been through too much of an ordeal." If it had been on the Bataan Death March, they'd know what being a prisoner is like.

"I don't think they'll have any problems readjusting to their freedom. They'll be all right. They look like they're pretty headstrong. I'm just glad they're safe."

Should the United States do anything to Iran in retribution for the hostage-taking? According to our informal poll, "I think we ought to normalize relations with them," said Wes Tobin, a social worker at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. "If we don't, Iran will go over to Russia, and I'm not sure we could deal with that."

"Yesterday, when Iran was still pussyfooting around with the hostages, I thought we should have said, 'Here's your money, dropped a bomb, and said 'Spend it any way you want.' But now that we're in a normalization after a period of time, is what we should do. 'I'm just glad they're all safe and sound, thanks to President Carter.'"

Peggy Wellmaker, an employee of Boutique II by H.G. in Granite City kept her comment short. "I can't think of anything nice to say about them (the Iranians)," she said.

One person, who asked not to be named, was more radical. "I think we ought to start up a fund to put out a contract to kill the Ayatollah (Khomeini)," the person said. "He's a madman, a menace to world peace and the world of this cancerous infection."

Papa, past commander of Madison Amvets Post 204, said, "We need to add our security throughout the world and not wait so long to do something."

Mulach, a wounded veteran of the Korean Conflict, said, "For the present, I'd say we should leave it alone. But we shouldn't allow them to Buffalo us like this."

"Your first reaction at a time like this is to do something to them (the Iranians). But we should wait until we hear what the hostages have to say, at the same time letting the world know that we can't tolerate this kind of thing."

Benefit concert by famed pianist

It will be "an early valentine for sweethearts." And "there will be something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue," said pianist Ruth Slenczynska in describing her benefit performance scheduled Feb. 1 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Sponsored by the SIUE Women's Club, the concert, with a "love theme" will begin at 3:30 p.m. in the Communications Building auditorium. In a red silk gown fashioned from material purchased in Thailand, the artist will play Beethoven's "Appassionata," which he began in 1804 and completed in 1806.

For something new, she has selected "Bukoliki" (country scene) by the contemporary Polish composer, Witold Lutoslawski. For something borrowed, she will play "Prelude." It is often heard at weddings. This will be my "something blue," said the SIUE music professor, who has received the Polish Cross of Merit "for bringing Chopin's music closer to the peoples of the world."

Miss Slenczynska, who came to SIUE in 1964 as an artist-in-residence, gave her first recital at age three. Two years later, she made her Berlin debut and at age seven she was introduced to Paris audiences.

When she was eight, she made her first tour of the U.S. after a Town Hall debut described by the New York Times as "an electrifying experience." The Times praised her as "the greatest child prodigy of the 20th Century and the greatest keyboard genius since Mozart." Miss Slenczynska continues to appear before audiences around the world. In addition to thousands of concerts, she has made more than 100 records. Some of her albums will be available at the Feb. 1 concert, and she has agreed to autograph them following her performance.

Miss Slenczynska's dramatic life has been featured on television and in magazines and became a best seller under the title of "Forbidden Childhood," written by her in collaboration with New York music critic Louis Biancolli. Proceeds from the benefit concert will be used by the Women's Club to support university and civic projects of the world.

Admission is $2. Tickets can be secured from members of the club and the SIUE music department, or at the door.

Cooperation stressed at hearing on pretreatment

"We are not going to lop your heads off," City Engineer Monroe Brewer of Granite City told industrial representatives during the first of three public hearings on a proposed sewage pretreatment program prior to Tuesday night's Granite City Council meeting.

Brewer pledged that rather than passing regulations rapidly and then forcing industries to follow them, in his words, "getting a meat-and-chopping your heads off," the pretreatment program will evolve over a period of time, together with industry contributing ideas and suggestions as the plan develops.

Upon enactment of the tentative pretreatment ordinance, the working relationship between industry and the city will become stronger as they work together to handle hazardous and dangerous discharges into the city's sewage treatment plant, Brewer said. It will include users of the new sanitary sewers in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships, since those sewers will utilize the city's treatment plant.

McMillan, superintendent of the treatment plant, said the pretreatment program should foster a good symbiotic relationship between the city and local industry.

The program, as explained by C. Alan Carter, project engineer of the Sverdrup & Parcel and Associates, Inc., who is preparing a preliminary program, explained that the program will call for the regulation of industry by the city, with regard to what types of discharges are made into the sewers.

Plans for diluting or otherwise treating harmful substances before they are injected into the sewers will be formulated and enforced, and programs will be established to report accidental discharges and to immediately deal with them, the audience was told.

Dr. James Buzell of Sverdrup & Parcel noted that unlike many EPA programs, this particular program fosters cooperation between industry and the local POTW (Publicly-Owned Treatment Works).

The third draft of the still incomplete pretreatment ordinance was discussed with the city council, and McMillan explained that the document is not ready to present to the city council and the program is only half completed.

The 33-page ordinance, as written, would require all industries, including existing industries, to apply to the city within 180 days of the effective date of the ordinance, detailing the types and quantities of industrial discharges, with particular emphasis on discharges which could hamper the sewage treatment process or which could be hazardous to life or health.

Hazardous materials include explosives, such as gasoline, kerosene, naphtha and others, foundry or core sand, base or acid materials, toxic pollutants, dyes, radioactive wastes or other dangerous materials. Also prohibited are materials which hamper the treatment process, including foundry sand, core sand, lime, grain, paper or chemicals which would neutralize treatment chemicals.

McMillan noted that sand has been causing a problem at the treatment plant and one of the first activities under the program will be an attempt to identify the source of the sand and to stop it from entering the sand out of the discharge of that industry or business.

By the ordinance, the McMillan is to be the only keeper of records relating to specific industrial discharges and to inform EPA of the information confidentially. Industries will have to provide a manhole or opening to which the engineer can take samples of the sewage discharge to determine if each industry is complying with the terms of its agreement with the city, under the pretreatment program.

Part of the study is to determine an equitable industrial user charge system to assure that the industries bear any costs involved in the program and not the homeowners.

The hearing was the first of three public meetings on the pretreatment program. The next will be a hearing this spring on the progress of the program and the third, and final, will be a formal public hearing.

A transcript of the formal hearing will be sent to the EPA for review.

The proposed ordinance may be adopted by the city council at any time during these hearings, McMillan said.

The pretreatment program has been under study since the city was first chartered in 1893, that it was mandated to formulate an implementation schedule for such a program.

The engineers for the project were selected the following month and by January 1979, that it was mandated to formulate an implementation schedule for such a program.

In July, the official contract with the engineering firm was signed and the study began. A progress report was submitted to EPA in December for review and EPA told the city this month that it is making "satisfactory progress" in its study, according to documents supplied by McMillan.

Madison-Venice considering use of Granite City treatment plant

Granite City officials said Tuesday night that the city would be willing to accept sewage from Madison and Venice for treatment in the city's primary and secondary sewage treatment plant, if there is some kind of guarantee that the city will be paid in full for all sewer users.

The possibility of removing Madison and Venice from the Landsdowne treatment plant is a part of the regional planning underway to close the outdated Landsdowne plant, rather than to construct a costly secondary sewage treatment facility there. Secondary sewage treatment will be necessary to meet EPA clean water regulations.

Terrence McMillan, superintendent of the Madison-Venice sewage treatment plant, told the council Tuesday night that he has no objection to treating the sewage from Madison and Venice, since the Granite City plant has enough capacity to handle the additional load.

He said the city would be in a position to handle the new four Township sewers after the new four Township sewers are in operation.

However, McMillan warned, "We will have to scratch our heads real hard and come up with a plan."

Alderman Roy Poulos of the Third Ward said he is concerned that many of the sewage treatment facilities from Madison and Venice families may not be paid and Mayor Paul Schuler said the city would have to make the same kind of agreement made with the Madison County Board for the Four Township sewers. "They pay us 100 percent off the top and then they collect their money," Schuler explained.

Madison and Venice are the Second Ward, expressing his long-standing dislike of the old East Levee and Sanitary District (now the Metro-East Sanitary District) said he would not be in favor of accepting any lines from Madison or Venice which are owned by the sanitary district.

"I don't think we should be connected with the East Levee Board in any way," Schuler said. "We should separate from the levee district. As long as we keep affiliated with them, the people of Madison County are going to get ripped off."

Whitmer stated. Schuler said regional studies indicate it would be less expensive to bring Madison and Venice into the Granite City treatment plant than to either improve Landsdowne to meet clean water standards or to take the Madison-Venice sewage to any other plant.

However, Schuler indicated he does not feel sewage from any St. Clair County municipality should be accepted. "I think we should keep out of St. Clair County," he summarized.

To mark IV nurse day

Jan. 25 has been designated IV Nurse Day. Judy Rhoades, a registered nurse in the Intravenous Unit at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, is representative of the many nurses who have chosen to work in the field of Intravenous Therapy, one of the fastest growing specialties in the nursing profession today.

An IV provides a way of giving necessary medications, fluids like dextrose, or blood transfusions. IV stands for "intravenous" (inside the vein) and it is the procedure of placing a needle or hollow plastic tube into the vein of the arm.

The IV nurse is responsible for placing the IV line with as little trauma as possible and maintaining new tubing and dressings, giving medications like chemotherapy (total IV nutrition) and blood transfusions. Approximately 20 percent of the metropolitan area hospitals offer IV Therapy Teams to their patients.

Seminar on digestive ailments

Dr. Alvin Brown says he is planning to speak about a subject that many people consider to be "unspeakable." He will talk at St. Elizabeth Medical Center's community seminar on diseases of the digestive system Tuesday, Jan. 27, at 7 p.m. in the multi-purpose room.

Subjects Dr. Brown plans to discuss include functional bowel disorders, ulcers, inflammatory bowel diseases, gallstones and cancer of the digestive system.

"Stress and diet play a role in the cause and effect of many bowel diseases," Dr. Brown said. "But the relationship between stress and disease is more complicated."

"Stress is not necessarily the whole cause. Often there is more than one cause. The genetic makeup of a person may also affect the onset of an illness."

"A good portion of digestive problems can be controlled if treated, and the patient can live a normal life."

Dr. Brown is a graduate of the University of Missouri Medical School in Columbia. His specialization is gastroenterology and internal medicine. He has been a member of the SEMC medical staff since 1977. Reservations are being taken for the seminar at the Medical Center public relations office, 788-3167.

National Steel consent decree

John McGuire, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Region V administrator, announced on Monday the lodging of a consent decree to bring National Steel Corporation's Detroit area facilities into compliance with all air and water pollution control requirements by 1982.

Monday's decree, entered by Assistant U.S. Attorney Jay Brant in the U.S. Court for the Eastern District of Michigan (Detroit), covers National Steel's Great Lakes Plant and is the first of three such agreements to be lodged.

Decrees will soon be lodged in appropriate federal courts to resolve similar issues at the steel producer's plants in Granite City and at Weirton, W. Va.

The Great Lakes plant is comprised of facilities in Ecorse and Zug Island, Mich.

The agreement calls for air pollution controls to reduce particulate emissions by 70 per cent. It also requires that certain maintenance and monitoring programs be expanded to improve performance of wastewater treatment systems.

Entry of the final decree by a federal judge will be delayed for 30 days after publication in the Federal Register to permit public comment.

Maximal access to quality education

By EARL LAZERSON
President of SIUE

at Edwardsville
The following is the text of President Lazer's address to the Southwestern Illinois Superintendents Forum.

As we begin a new year locally—and what some have called a new era nationally—one thing is clear: We are going to have to make the most of every opportunity that comes our way. In this light, I want to discuss with you some aspects of the relationships between the University and the common schools of the region we serve. The challenges in our situation are such that we will be well advised to engage in partnerships that pool our resources in significant tasks whenever possible.

I will begin by stating some hard truths that must be faced. On the federal, state, and local levels, it is likely that a diminishing share of public funds will be allocated to education. In recent years, we have seen drastic real reductions in our budgetary allowances, as increases have not kept pace with inflation. With the failure of local bond issues and tax increases, our physical plants can barely be kept in repair. Our teachers have seen their incomes shrink in the face of inflation-swollen dollars, and they are properly unhappy about it.

In the meantime, severe criticism is being leveled at the quality of education that is being provided to our young citizens. There have been incessant outcries concerning the lack of the so-called "basic skills" of reading, writing, speaking, and mathematical calculation. The public mood, particularly in concerned parents and alarmed employers, is that educational quality has seriously declined in the face of significant increases in fiscal support.

Whether this attitude is based on fair or accurate perceptions is beside the point. People feel that their schools are doing a poor job of preparing the young to deal with life as it is lived. This feeling is being conveyed to those in government who control the purse strings. Over the past decade, public confidence in the schools has been subject to steady erosion.

If you see anything on the local, state or national political horizons to suggest that things are likely to get better, I would be grateful to hear such harbingers of hope as you have to offer. For the moment, I want to outline our present condition and a prescription we can take. It need not be too bitter a pill.

To define our agenda on the proposition that economics must determine educational fate is to succumb to a mechanistic vision of historical reality. We might better look at our own shared past, since it coincides with some larger forces that have shaped the course of American education over the past quarter century.

At the time that the Russians were putting Sputnik into space, SIUE came into being. With the shock that the Russians were so spectacularly advanced technologically came a corollary view that our educational system needed a dramatic infusion of funds to improve our scientific and technological capabilities. This led to the abundance of the sixties, with heady visions that government, with the dynamic cooperation of a burgeoning educational establishment, would solve any problem we could identify.

SIUE engaged in this enterprise with dispatch. As of last April, there were some 3,600 teachers, administrators, counselors, and other education professionals employed in Illinois schools who have received a degree from us. Countless others have come for workshops, seminars, special courses and conferences, and forms of study tailored to personal needs. If there are problems with the common schools in the region, we at SIUE must acknowledge our role in their creation.

As we analyze our problems, let's also be emphatic about our potential. If there is anxiety about the achievement of students, it should be seen not as a loss of faith in education itself but as an affirming desire to see its promise redeemed. In the next few years, our budgetary flexibility will be limited. With the tailoff from the post-World War II population expansion upon us, the number of students coming into the common schools will also be reduced.

So even if we have to make do with less, we can work together to do a better job for all who come to us. Although SIUE is expanding horizons in terms of age groups we hope to serve, in the recognition that a post-secondary degree is far from being terminal as to learning, we have a vital interest and responsibility in making sure that the young citizens growing in our midst have the chance to make the most of their lives. As we seek to address all the real needs and hopes we can identify, a primary one is that you will explore fresh ways we can join with us in making the common schools places where the rich potential of our youth can be fulfilled.

Several years ago, I formulated my conception of the University's mission to our faculty in these words: "to provide the citizens of this region with maximal access to quality education."

Too often, discussion of "access" is limited simply to economic constraints or elitist admission standards. As tuition and fees increase to meet costs during periods when middle and lower class families are increasingly hard put to find money for college education, costs can seriously inhibit access.

That is not a problem over which we have much control. I do not believe that stringent admission standards automatically guarantee the presence of "quality" students, who are crucial to the character of educational quality with which we should be concerned. Those who come to us with a will to achieve and a reasonable background of performance ought to have the chance to succeed—or to fail, without devastation to their self-esteem or potential alternatives.

So the swing of our doors cannot be calibrated to mechanically applied numerical criteria, which do not always adequately measure personal talent or valid ambition. The ultimate measure of our success lies in the quality of the men and women we graduate, not in the speculative potential of those we admit.

The common schools provide access to post-secondary education through the strength and substance of instruction at earlier levels. Reasonable access to higher performance depends upon adequate preparation. It may start in day care centers or kindergarten. But it must grow throughout the total sequence of primary and secondary schooling.

The condition of common school instruction in this region has been an abiding, if not always coherently focused, concern of SIUE. From the outset, we knew that the character and quality of your schools would determine to a large extent the kind of students who would come to us.

To take a more broadly responsible view, we also appreciate the role that the common schools must play in the social stability, economic vitality, and cultural integrity of the individual communities of your districts. We know that all the students who come to you will not come to us—at least immediately. Not every student in your schools is destined for college.

This does not mean that we do not have something to offer these students. From the outset, sound lines of communication have been established between the University and those such as yourselves who can see an advantage in drawing upon our resources.

It is my conviction that we can, indeed, we must, do more for each other. Our present efforts, particularly viewed from the needs and aspirations of the region, may be overly circumscribed and scatter-shot.

For example, we have a Productive Science Awareness Program in East St. Louis geared to a clearly identified set of social and cultural conditions. Still, heightened awareness in science should benefit every student in the region. We must build upon and extend the success of this program along a much broader base. We have imaginative and sophisticated programs in mathematical studies located in several localities. I think that we can work with you to provide enhanced mathematical study in every school.

Our English Department sponsors a contest for creative writers around the region; each year it seems that the same teachers produce the gifted writers. But talent and capacity are everywhere, and it is only through training, discipline, and inspiration are more restricted. Individual schools draw on our advice for curricular focus and enrichment; we offer our expertise and research to fine-tune administrative structure and strategy. Our outreach in media studies, in music, in the arts, in ethnic pursuits, takes us into diverse localities, in which we learn as well as teach.

The range of these programmatic ventures covers the entire spectrum of university teaching. But these programs are targeted to particular schools, reaching limited numbers of students. They address the needs of a given locality, but these needs undoubtedly extend to many other students, too.

Ultimately, the total university should be accessible to the entire region. If we are to accomplish this, we must depend upon you: upon your interest and cooperation. Today I respectfully request you, meeting together, to consider exploration of the form a long-term joint venture between the University and the common schools might take.

In the Superintendent's Forum, the full range of influence and responsibility for primary and secondary education is represented. I ask that you consider how every department and school at SIUE can in concert with you provide a sequential, coherent pattern of cooperative action.

For our part, I want to emphasize that the academic community at SIUE will approach this task with the attitude that we will always have as much to learn as we have to teach. We do not view ourselves as the U.S. Goliath coming down from the bluffs to save a desperate situation in the nick of time. Our efforts must be marked by a strong sense of joint responsibility of accountability and a patient willingness to explain what we are doing clearly and carefully.

The critical public attitudes alluded to earlier offer a positive opportunity if they help reinforce our emphasis on quality. We must not only focus on quality of methodology and structural approach, we must also exercise judgment as to quality of content.

We cannot view reading simply as a skill, a basic competency. We should strive to make each student's reading rich in humane experience and acute personal insight. The process of calculation should lead through an understanding of arithmetic operations and their application to the demands of everyday life, to an appreciation of the discipline that lies at the heart of logical, rational thought. Every citizen in our society should speak with clarity and tolerant conviction in a tone of courtesy and civility appropriate to the setting.

What some look upon as basic skills must be seen as the essential habits of decent, productive human persons. Because they are habits, they must be at the outset and amplified and reinforced along the way. They have value in the marketplace, in factories, in the political arena, in those places we gather for entertainment and inspiration, and in the home.

In the end, however, it is in the common schools, under the care of energetic devoted teachers, that they are born and nurtured to early and vigorous growth. These habits are not to be regarded as the decoration of the college graduate; they must be the common trappings of every member of our society.

I am convinced that these are the commonalities of habit and thought that we must pursue and make accessible to the citizens of this region through our joint efforts.

We are properly worried about the survival of our schools. I think that we can not only survive by pooling our resources and working together, but we can prosper.

Let me be clear. I do not suggest that we engage in

GC Council studies proposal for loading spots downtown

The traffic committee of the Granite City Council was asked Tuesday night to study the possibility of providing truck loading and unloading spaces in every block of the downtown business district.

The suggestion was made by Alderman Paul Fisk of the Third Ward, who said trucks now have to double park at many businesses to load or unload and that blocks traffic.

He said it is unfortunate that more businesses do not have alleys behind them for loading docks.

Alderman Roy Paulos of the Third Ward disagreed with Fisk, saying that providing such spaces downtown could lead to requests from every business in the city for a loading zone.

Alderman Everett Morien of the First Ward said he thought such loading zones might end the misuse of parking areas such as the handicapped parking space in front of the Reese Drug Store on Niedringhaus Avenue, which frequently is used by commercial vehicles for unloading.

Mayor Paul Schuler reminded the council that all they were doing was referring the matter to committee for study and the motion passed unanimously on a voice vote.

In other business, the council voted to:

- Hire Mark Siebert, 2415 Lynch Ave., to replace retiring Russell Gaddy on the street department work force.
- Transfer ownership of the fire department's unused rescue truck to the sanitation department and of a fire department van to the city engineering department. City officials indicated the vehicles will greatly decrease the mileage the city now pays employees in those departments for using their personal cars on city business.

—Authorized Dennis Myracle Auto Service to do approximately $468 worth of work, including engine repairs and shock absorber replacement, to put the former fire department van in good condition.

Clark Chemical Co. to supply mosquito spray chemicals for $37 a gallon and solid mosquito larvae killing chemicals for 51-cents per pound. The contract was on the basis of low bid from among several bids received.

—Rejected bids received on salt for ice control on the streets and agreed to readvertise for new bids. The aldermen felt the bids received were too high.

—Authorized $150 in expenses for City Attorney John Paps and Assistant City Attorney Irvin C. Slat Jr. to attend a legal council workshop to be presented by the Illinois Association of Chiefs of Police May 23 in St. Louis.

—Gratefully accepted a letter from State Treasurer for a court injunction against the city to stop construction of the 19th Street overpass, was denied Jan. 8. The lodge contends the overpass, immediately in front of the lodge's front door, has decreased the value of the lodge building and that the building has been damaged during the construction activities.

—Referred an annexation request from the residents of 2572 Stratford Lane to the city's Plan Commission for a hearing and a recommendation to the council.

—Agreed to release $1,000 pledged to the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society to plant trees in the residential area just north of the downtown area. A 10-year plan of tree planting, prepared by a University of Illinois Horticulturist, was reviewed and aldermen said they were grateful for the work DNRS is doing to improve the tree area.

—Agreed to appropriate an additional $23,560 for last summer's street resurfacing program. City Engineer Monroe Brewer explained that the funds had previously been approved and paid, but the books would not balance because the council had failed to officially appropriate the money. He said the action would not cost the council one penny.

—Instructed the superintendent of streets to move the stop signs on Jill Avenue from the intersection at Aubrey Avenue to the intersection at Jill and Wayne avenues. "That's where the traffic is, not at Aubrey," Alderman Glen Sprankle of the Fourth Ward explained. Appropriate ordinances to move the stop signs were passed unanimously.

—Approved a resolution calling for the repair or demolition of a house at 2154 Edison Ave. Brewer said that if the structure is not repaired immediately, the city will be empowered to go to court to seek a zoning order.

Theft alleged

Anton J. Walch, 17, of 1726 Cleveland Blvd., was charged with a misdemeanor count of theft Monday in connection with the removal of a radiator from Peck Radiator & Welding Co., 1735 Madison Ave., Sunday night. A 15-year-old Granite City boy who was allegedly with Walch is to be charged with burglary in juvenile court petitions.

Police said the charges reflect that the juvenile entered the radiator repair shop after a window in an overhead door was broken and removed two junk radiators, two knives and about $2.90 in change.

Walch then carried one radiator and the juvenile carried the other, along with the knives and money, down the alley, where a neighbor saw them and held them for police. It is alleged that another juvenile believed involved in the incident is to be questioned. He was not with the two who were caught.

BAC students 'far superior'

Belleville Area College students consistently do better after transfer than the average community college student, and—over all—better than "native students" who have taken their first two years' study at four-year institutions.

In fact, according to recent research by Dr. Gordon R. Stone, BAC students' grades are so far superior that the possibility that the difference could have occurred by chance is statistically less than 1-in-20,000.

The results of his recent research were recited to an audience of almost 200 persons gathered to bid Stone farewell. He resigned this month his position as Dean of Baccalaureate Oriented Studies at Belleville Area College after having served in that position for the last decade. Stone noted that during that time, he has seen phenomenal growth, including the completion of the main campus, a unified day and evening college, and the expansion of a comprehensive program in continuing education, developmental studies, career programs, student services, and baccalaureate programs. Enrollment during the ten years has tripled, Stone said. In a short, but quite scholarly and formal farewell speech, Stone warned of problems that are facing the educational community nationally. He said that he was greatly concerned about the country's inability to maintain local control over the various educational units.

The American people's reluctance to respond to local needs and to finance their own programs locally may, he warned, create a vacuum for one or two decades and a stronger reliance on the federal government for funding. He called the present system of "educational funding" anachronistic, and described the financial structure of education in the United States as "intolerable," but said that federal funding could have advantages as well as disadvantages depending upon the degree to which states can be left a large measure of control.

He prophesied that the coming years will see psychology, "the hybrid science," come into its own as we learn more about how the individual functions. With that additional knowledge, Stone said, our educational programs can be tailored with far greater accuracy and lower costs. The future may bring gene splicing, increasing oxygen to the brain, and the manipulation of intelligence by a scientific physiological approach. There are dangers to such manipulation, however, he warned.

Finally, Stone foresees the time when educators will emerge into the category of professionals in the highest sense of the term, not only in the sophistication of the tools of learning at their command, but in the areas of self regulation and placing the client served above personal interests.

Stone exhorted the assembled teachers, administrators, and support personnel of the college to "consciously direct the changes that are coming to the extent we are capable."

"Let us be only insecure when change is not occurring, and let our security reside in change—not for the sake of change—but that which we are consciously directing for purpose," he admonished.

Stone concluded that Belleville Area College will emerge as one of the finest educational institutions in the nation. "It has been a distinct privilege working with each of you at every level of operation during these many years," he said. "Your presence here tonight does me great honor, and I wish each of you the very best."

2 charged with damage at car wash

Charles J. Collins, 17, Taylorville, and Charles Fliscomb, 22, of 2211 Nevada Ave., were charged Monday with criminal damage to property in connection with the breaking of a coin box and controls to one bay of the G&G Car Wash, 2222 Madison Ave., early Sunday.

Police were told of suspicious activities at the car wash and two squad cars responded to find an auto in a wash bay. A metallic noise like a crowbar being dropped on concrete was heard. As police arrived, two young men got into the car and started the engine.

The squad cars stopped in front and behind the auto, blocking its escape; it was reported. Collins and Fliscomb were taken into custody when it was discovered that the control box had been severely battered and pried from the wall, according to official reports. Damage was estimated at $800 to $1,000. A wrecking bar was found under the car and a large pair of bolt cutters was found in the back seat, police alleged.

Detectives consulted with an assistant state's attorney before deciding to charge the two with criminal damage to property. Agreements were reached for the families of the two to pay for the damages, authorities reported.

Bi-State to help buy the Admiral

James S. Nations, chairman of the Bi-State Development Agency board, has announced that Bi-State will support St. Louis city's purchase of the Admiral Nations Executive Director Charles Houghton, and Bi-State's three general managers, met with Mayor James Conway late Tuesday afternoon to finalize the terms.

Under the agreement the city will establish a fund equal to the amount of the bonds purchased by Bi-State, which the agency may draw upon as needed to meet operating cash requirements.

That Bi-State will guarantee the purchase of up to $2 million of Admiral bonds at competitive market rates.

Other conditions agreed to are:

- That the city of St. Louis will pledge all revenues derived from its port leases to offset any deficit in bond debt service.

- That payments from excursion boat revenue will first go for debt service and other reserve requirements before profit payments are made to bond promoters and boat operators.

That Bi-State will come from an agency account that is used to handle cash-flow requirements. The fund generated by the city will offset Bi-State's support. "It worked out well for everybody," Nations concluded.

Help inaugurate new president

The ceremonies which accompanied the inauguration of President Ronald Reagan held special significance for former Granite City residents Mr. and Mrs. Roger (Doris) Schoenhardt, who saw two sons participate in the inaugural parade.

Duane Schoenhardt performed in the marching band from Virginia Poly Tech University of Blacksburg, Va., which earned top band honors throughout the state of Virginia in 1980. Cadet Tim Schoenhardt, who is in the U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo., served in the honor guard for the inauguration.

They are the grandsons of Mrs. Dorothea Ebrecht and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Schoenhardt. Mrs. Ebrecht was present for the inaugural parade.

Cold weather can be killer

Cold weather may be invigorating, but it is also a killer.

The National Center for Health Statistics reports cold weather claimed 652 lives in 1978, the last year for which such statistics are currently available.

Doctors acknowledge this figure is too low, and does not include many accidents, illnesses and other physical complications caused by cold weather. Some experts place cold weather's death toll above 25,000 each year.

Many of cold weather's victims could escape its dire effects if they would follow cold weather precautions and emergency tips, according to Tom Reed, an insurance loss control officer.

"Individual tolerance to cold depends on many factors, including age, moisture, age, clothing and level of activity," Reed says. "In addition, allergies, blood or circulatory disorders, fatigue, smoking, alcohol and certain medications can weaken your body's defenses against cold."

He advises people to consider both wind velocity and air temperature before venturing outdoors.

Wind velocity is critical because wind causes heat loss by convection. In other words, wind blows away the thin layer of air that acts as an insulator between the skin and the outside air temperature.

Reed says cold weather clothing should do three things: keep in body heat, keep out cold air, and keep out moisture.

Several layers of light clothing more effectively provide this protection than a single heavy garment because air spaces between layers act as insulation.

"Your first layer of clothing should be made of material which will absorb perspiration, since wet skin freezes more rapidly than dry," he says, adding that thermal-type woolen underclothing is often recommended.

"Outer clothing should be windproof and waterproof, blocking out moisture and gusts which can carry heat away from your body."

Hats, mittens, scarves and heavy socks—preferably woolen—are essential to reduce your body's heat loss from high-sweat areas. Make certain that clothing, particularly footwear, is not so tight that circulation is restricted.

"Even ample clothing may not protect you at extremely low temperatures for long, and your body may begin losing heat faster than it produces it. This can result in hypothermia, which is a significant drop in internal body temperature."

"As the skin's blood vessels constrict to conserve heat, hands and feet first tingle and then become numb."

If body temperature continues to drop, the body attempts to produce heat through involuntary shivering. Further temperature drop reduces heat through involuntary shivering.

Further temperature drop reduces the brain's efficiency, which causes speech difficulty, forgetfulness, drowsiness, numbness and loss of manual dexterity.

"Extremely low internal body temperature can cause collapse and death."

"Hypothermia can strike indoors as well as outdoors. Many people, typically the elderly, die in their own homes because of inadequate heating."

"Dr. Richard W. Besdine of the Harvard Medical School and a consultant to the National Institute on Aging, estimates that 25,000 people over the age of 65 die every year of undiagnosed accidental hypothermia."

"Elderly people succumb to accidental hypothermia more often than other age groups because physical changes, which often accompany aging, reduce the body's ability to regulate its internal temperature and to sense the cold."

"The National Institute on Aging, therefore, recommends that elderly people keep their homes at temperatures of 70 degrees and dress warmly both indoors and out."

"Tragically, many elderly people die from cold because they simply cannot afford adequate heating. Many cities offer financial assistance for home heating, and those in need should try calling their city hall."

"Frostbite, on the other hand, is an actual freezing of your external body tissue," Reed explains.

"While mild frostbite involves only the skin and possibly the tissue just beneath it, severe frostbite damages deeper tissue, possibly leading to gangrene and loss of the affected parts."

"Although frostbite usually occurs only after long exposure to cold, protected skin can freeze in less than a minute when exposed to severely cold wind."

Reed cites these frostbite danger signals listed by the American Red Cross: 1) Just before frostbite occurs, affected skin may appear slightly flushed. 2) As the tissue freezes, skin becomes white or grayish-yellow, eventually taking on a pale, glossy appearance. 3) There is little or no pain; and the affected area is intensely cold and numb.

He cautions that with severe frostbite, the victim may become confused, stagger, fall, lose eyesight and go into shock. Death, if it occurs, is usually due to heart failure.

"Administer mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, or heart massage, to the hypothermia or frostbite victim if he is not breathing."

"Then, move the victim to a warm room as soon as possible. Remove wet, frozen or constricting clothing and obtain medical help as soon as possible."

Until help arrives, follow these first-aid tips:

Warm a hypothermia victim slowly by wrapping him in blankets, or by placing him in a tub of water that is warm but not hot to the forearm (102 to 105 F). Another person's body heat is also effective, especially in an emergency. Then proceed with the frostbite suggestions listed below.

Warm a frostbitten area quickly through immersion in warm water (102 to 105 F). Maintain the water at that temperature. If the affected area has been thawed and refrozen, it should be warmed at room temperature (from 70 to 74 F).

If warm water is not available, use sheets and blankets to provide warmth.

If the victim is conscious, give him a warm drink (not alcohol).

Do not rub any frostbitten area; rubbing may cause gangrene (tissue death).

Do not apply a heat lamp or hot water bottles to warm the victim near a stove.

Do not break the blisters. Since severe swelling develops rapidly, discontinue warming the victim as soon as the affected area becomes flushed.

Once the affected part is warmed, have the victim exercise it.

However, if feet have been frostbitten, do not allow the victim to walk.

If fingers or toes are involved, place dry, sterile gauze between them to keep them separated.

Do not apply other dressing unless the victim is to be transported for medical aid.

If travel is necessary, cover the affected area with a sterile or clean cloth and protect from contact with bedclothes.

Elevate frostbitten hands or feet.

Strong support, opposition to proposed fleeing facilities

The Corps of Engineers and the Illinois Department of Transportation, Division of Water Resources, are each continuing to receive substantial public reaction concerning proposals by two large barge lines to construct and operate fleeing facilities on the Mississippi River near its confluence with the Illinois River.

Each agency is evaluating applications for federal and state permits which, if issued, would authorize SCNO Terminal Corp., St. Louis, and Riverway Towing Company, Grafton, Ill., to construct barge fleeing facilities in the Mississippi River along the Great River Road between Grafton and Chautauque, Ill.

In the two-mile stretch of river between the two towns, SCNO has requested authorization to install fleeing facilities along eight-tenths of a mile of shoreline. Riverway proposes to install fleeing facilities along three-tenths of a mile of shoreline, and the remaining nine-tenths of shore would remain open.

Nearly 300 people attended a hearing Dec. 18, 1980, at Pere Marquette Lodge which the Corps and the Illinois Department of Transportation held jointly to obtain public comment on the pending permits.

More than 60 participants made statements during the course of the six-hour proceedings. Parties speaking in favor of the proposals cited economics and fuel and operational efficiencies as the basis for their position.

Unqualified support for the proposed fleeing facilities was expressed by the mayor and City Council of Grafton, the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Ship Builders, Blacksmiths, Forgers and Helpers, and various towing and shipping interests.

Stress relief program held

The Southern Illinois Chapter of Separated and Divorced Catholics recently held a program meeting at St. Boniface Church in Edwardsville.

The program "Stress Relief" was presented by members of the Social Work Dept. of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City. Mrs. Ralph Hausmann, director of the department and Bob Turck, social worker, explained the causes and effects of stress in everyday life.

They conducted a test to help evaluate individual personality types, which indicates how a person is affected by stressful situations. Mrs. Hausmann and Mr. Turck then gave suggestions for reducing stress and dealing with it more effectively, so that it can be used as a positive force. The program closed with a relaxation technique and question and answer session.

The Separated and Divorced Catholic group met at St. Boniface on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month. The next meeting will be a rap session on Jan. 28 at 7:30 p.m. For more information Quad-Cityans may call Father Bob Meyer, 656-6450.

Traffic fatalities in state continue decline

Year-end traffic fatalities in Illinois continued on a downward trend resulting in a 2 percent decrease in total fatalities for all of 1980.

During 1980 there were 1978 deaths on Illinois highways, down from 2019 recorded in 1979 and 2137 in 1978. These provisional statistics are released by the Illinois Department of Transportation and the Illinois State Police.

Provisional figures show 137 people died as a result of 132 accidents during December. This is a 16 percent decrease from the 168 traffic fatalities in December 1979 and a 6.8 decrease from the 147 fatality total in December 1978.

In all December accidents, there were 39 pedestrians killed in 38 accidents, 2 bicyclists killed in 2 accidents, 3 persons killed in 3 railroad crossing accidents, and 2 persons killed in 2 accidents involving motorcycles.

Incumbents on Venice park board to seek new terms

Valeta Bauder and Joan Silas, both incumbents of the Venice Park Board, are seeking re-election to six year terms on the board.

To date John Henry Williams has taken out a petition and reportedly intends to run for one of the two six-year terms.

Incumbent John Gardner reportedly will seek the two-year term, which is the unexpired term of Mary Francis Bauder who resigned.

Assessment deadline Jan. 31

Von Dee Cruse, Granite City Township assessor, reminded residents today they have until Jan. 31 to file complaints against their assessments with the Madison County Board of Review.

Cruse said his office will remain open from 8:30 a.m. until 9 p.m. daily to help Granite City property owners fill out complaint forms and provide figures and data necessary to filling out the forms.

Complaint forms will be available at his office, the assessor said.

Under the law, residents have 30 days from the date of publication to file complaints and requests for hearing by the review board which may, or may not, revise the assessments.

Cruse has been keeping his office open late hours for the past two weeks to assist property owners in preparing the appeals.

Faces 3 charges

Wesley E. Pittington, 34, of the 2800 block of Emzee Avenue, was charged in state complaints with resisting arrest, battery and disorderly conduct after a disturbance at the home of Wanda Schrader, also in the 2800 block of Emzee Avenue, last week.

Mrs. Schrader alleged that Pittington came to her home and struck her several times with his fist. Police arrived and arrested Pittington after Mrs. Schrader agreed to sign a battery complaint against him.

Police alleged that Pittington took off his boots and threatened to kick Patrolman Mike Murgie in the face. He was belligerent and said he would not go to jail, Murgie charged.

An additional officer was requested and Murgie took Pittington outside, where Pittington allegedly grabbed onto the bed of a pickup truck and refused to move. While Murgie was attempting to get him to let go of the truck, Patrolman Jerry Duncan arrived and the two used force to get Pittington into a squad car, it was related.

He was booked at the police station and was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was treated for abrasions to his head and cuts to his fingers. He was X-rayed and released to police, who lodged him in a cell.

Mark 11:24 . "Therefore I say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them."

MORE PRAYER

There is a great amount of praying going on today. Yes, this is true. Not only individual prayer, but whole congregations are bowing down before God. It is a most refreshing experience to empty ourselves and be filled with our Lord's presence.

LESS ANSWERS

We are finding, however, that with the increase of prayer, there is not an equal increase of answered prayer. More prayer, less answers. How can this be? We pray too much in generalities. We are not specific when we pray. Know what you need, know what you want, know what you will accept, before you pray!

DESIRE AND FAITH

Our Scripture thought surely leaves no room for doubt concerning faith. When you pray believe and you shall receive. So it goes without saying, you must pray with faith. The key phrase however is this: what things soever you desire. That's right. What you desire. If you pray with all the faith in the world and still have no specific desire God won't be able to bless you with all his power.

SOLUTION

I don't believe anyone who wanted a house built would say to a carpenter, "Build me a house." That's too general a statement. No one would go to a supermarket and say, "Fill my basket." There is no telling what you would get! The carpenter could build a house and it still would not be what you wanted, your basket could be full of groceries and contain nothing you really need! And you can pray and pray and pray and still not get your answer!

What do you really need from God? Tell Him! Don't suppose that He already knows. Tell God what you want, when you want it, where you want it, down to the last detail and God will give you what you desire.

SUCCESS CAN BE YOURS

Do not ever despair of reaching God in prayer. Be persistent. Be patient. Be faithful. Always confess that God is sending your answer, He is.

Remember that God can do anything. He can save your soul. He can heal your diseases. He can find you a job. He is every answer to every situation in life that you will ever face.

And God says, "If my people call I will answer."

Call on God and be ready! Your answers are already on the way!

A bazaar is planned for February and will be held at St. Joseph Catholic Church

Hubbard-Thomas

St. John United Church of Christ was the scene of the wedding on Nov. 15 of Miss Mary Margaret Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ezekiel Thomas, 2420 Roney Drive, and Michael Lawrence Hubbard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hubbard, 2023 Morrison Road.

The Rev. Sheldon Culver officiated at the double ring ceremony at 6 o'clock in the evening before an altar decorated with bouquets of pink and white carnations and ferns.

Organist Marilyn Bernaix played "Evergreen," "Sunrise, Sunset," "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer" during the service.

For her wedding, the bride chose a formal A-line style gown fashioned of white chiffon over taffeta.

Chantilly lace, etched with seed pearls, accented the sheer yoke, stand-up collar, long bishop sleeves and was repeated on the skirt, cathedral train, and hemline.

She wore a lace and pearl cap to hold in place a long cathedral veil of bridal illusion and she held a cascade of silk white Stephanotis and burgundy carnations.

Attending the bride were, Misses Barbara and Edna Thomas, sisters of the bride, Terri Meyer, Chris Fabisher, Shelly Vaughn, and Shair Ripka.

All attendants were gowned alike in qiana handkerchief skirts and blouson bodices with spaghetti straps complemented with matching bolero jackets in a burgundy fabric.

They carried floral arrangements of white pom pons, baby's breath and burgundy and pink carnations.

Ann Marie Mitchell and Michael Vaughn, served as flower girl and ringbearer. She wore a rose color frock and carried a basket of white, burgundy and pink blossoms.

Blenda Watts attended the guest book and Susan Hubbard, a sister of the groom, and Mary Novosel, served as candlelighters.

The groom chose David Price as best man, Bob Meyer, Richard Awalt, Bruce Wright, Jody Falloni, Wayne Hubbard, a brother of the groom, Mickey Smith, Tim and Greg Luehmann, and Bruce Uzunoff completed the corp of groomsmen and ushers.

A reception was held at Engelbert Hall in Madison immediately following the ceremony and the rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard, parents of the groom, in their home.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Thomas selected a blue polyester gown fashioned with a scoop neckline, empire bodice worn with a flowing sheer cape.

The groom's mother was attired in a sea green knit dress designed with a V-neckline enhanced with a chiffon rose and complemented with a matching chiffon cape. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

Both young people graduated from North High School. The former Miss Thomas is employed as an CRT operator at National Credit Systems in St. Louis and her husband works at Archers Daniels.

They are residing in Granite City.

HOW TO LAUGH ALL THE WAY FROM THE BANK

If the idea of taking your hard-earned money to the bank to use for free and then having to pay them a service fee in addition, has upset you in the past, then think of Illini Federal.

We have something for you to smile about.

COME TO ILLINI. DO NOT PASS GO. DO NOT PAY FOR CHECKING. DEPOSIT $200.

If you've got $50 or more, we've got an irresistible offer for you. Bring it to us and we'll set up a NOW Account. You'll earn 5% interest on all checking account money, compounded daily and paid monthly.

And best of all, if you keep at least $200 in your NOW Account, you can write checks on this money. For free.

For example, our checking (NOW) account statement is virtually self-balancing. We can also give you an "instant mini-statement" at the office, which includes your balance and the checks that have cleared.

Then ask us about Illini's NOW Account Credit Reserve Loan.

Service: If you qualify, it can put an end to those end of the month surprises, when "someone" has forgotten to record a check. It can also help you take advantage of bargains that you might miss otherwise.

And of course, we still pay a 4 1/2 more than banks on many of our savings plans.

MAKE US YOUR FAMILY FINANCIAL CENTER.

Whether it's checking, savings, or loans for homes, cars, college or vacations, visit your bank and then come (checking all the way) to your nearest Illini Federal office.

Change in resources. Let Social Security know if you buy or sell real estate, a car, or other personal property. And report any additions to your savings account.

Change in your household. Be sure to report if: you marry or your marriage ends; you and your husband or wife separate or begin living together again after a separation; you begin living in someone else's home or move out of it; or if you start living with others and share in household expenses.

Inflation biggest foe, teens agree

President Ronald Reagan and the nation's outstanding teens are in complete agreement on how to straighten out America in the next four years.

This is one of the themes in the latest poll of 24,000 high school juniors and seniors listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students.

Results from the survey of high achievers show that 88 percent of the teens want the government's top priority to be fighting inflation.

More than half demand a balanced national budget and nearly two-thirds say the defense budget should be increased.

A majority of the teens support a strong military posture for the U.S.; 63 percent would send aid or military "advisers" where Communists were stirring up a faction.

Draft registration is agreeable with two-thirds of the teens, though less than half would favor a mandatory call-up.

The Equal Rights Amendment comes under fire from the teens. For the first time in the eleven year history of the Who's Who survey, a majority (53 percent) of the respondents oppose passage of the ERA.

If given the choice, seven out of ten teens would allot their tax dollars to energy resource development and 61 percent of this energy conscious generation would place their bets on nuclear power.

Taxes are a bugaboo among the country's teen leaders as well. A good number (74 percent) would vote to limit property taxes as in California's Proposition 13.

But when asked what services they'd give up, most could only identify three out of the list of welfare heading the list of expendable programs.

Social security tax will increase annually

Dave O'Neal

On Jan. 1, 1981, the social security tax rate and the amount of annual earnings on which social security taxes are paid—the wage base—were increased. The increases translate into hikes in payroll deduction for employees of from $7.45 per week to less than $1.

The following information was provided by the Social Security Administration.

Q. I earn $16,000 annually. Will an increase in the wage base affect me?

A. No. Previously, social security taxes were only assessed on the first $25,900 of a person's annual income. This year, that wage base went up to $29,700. If you earn less than $29,700 social security taxes will apply to your entire yearly salary. An estimated 8 million workers will earn the taxable maximum of $29,700 or more in 1981. That's about 7 percent of the 114 million workers who will pay into the social security system.

Q. My husband earns $20,000. How much will our taxes increase because of the hike in the tax rate?

A. An employee making $20,000 a year will pay $1,330, up from $1,226. That is an increase of $104 a year, or $2 a week. Those earning $10,000 will pay total taxes of $665, up from $613. That's an increase of $52 a year or $1 a week. Last year's tax rate of 6.13 percent each for employees and employers will increase to 6.65 percent.

Q. I am self-employed. How will the increases affect me?

A. On self-employment income, the tax rate will increase to 9.30 percent, up from 8.10 percent. Self-employed persons earning the taxable maximum of $29,700 will pay total taxes of $2,762.10, up from $2,097.90. That is an increase of $664.20 a year. Those earning $20,000 will pay total taxes of $1,330, up from $1,226, an increase of $240 a year.

Q. What has prompted these increases?

A. The increases stem from legislation enacted in 1977. The law also provides for additional raises in the tax rate in future years in order to keep pace with benefit increases. After 1981, the wage base will rise each year in proportion to increases in average wages.

Gerontology seminar planned

The Gerontology Program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will sponsor a seminar entitled "Candles to Lasers" on Wednesday, Jan. 28.

Fred W. Zurbeld, associate professor of physics at SIUE, will lead the program. He will discuss various light sources, human color vision, watercolors, filters, color photography and printing.

The program is scheduled from 1:30 to 4 p.m. in the Mississippi Room in the University Center at SIUE. The session is part of a seminar series offered this winter free of charge as a public service to senior citizens in the Metro-East region.

GRANITE CITY (ILL.) PRESS-RECORD, Thursday, January 22, 1981—21

KEEP-AWAY. Granite City North's Harold Rody (center) tries to keep control of the ball Wednesday night while being guarded by three Belleville West Maroons in the first round of the Belleville East Tournament. Rody kept the ball, but North lost the game and will face Murphysboro, which was edged by Belleville East last night, in the loser's bracket of the tourney.

Steelers bombed by Maroons 62-38

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press-Record

BELLEVILLE — A month and a half before basketball season starts is dedicated for teams to prepare so it's able to play 32 minutes of hard basketball. It doesn't do any good when you can only go two and a half quarters.

The Granite City North Steelers are suffering from this dilemma and it was in their opening game in the Belleville East Invitational Tournament here Wednesday. In order words, the Steelers were just too pooped to produce as they dropped an 82-38 decision to the Belleville West Maroons.

North moves on to the consolation bracket where it will tangle with the Murphysboro Red Devils (11-3) in a 7 p.m. contest here Friday.

The Steelers are now riding on a 13 game losing streak, but they can only get better and that's the way head coach Bill Ohlendorf sees the situation. "We are looking a lot better," said Ohlendorf. "It looks very encouraging despite the losing season and these kids are still playing hard. It's very gratifying — and something a coach likes to see."

North gave the hardest effort it could. Unfortunately, it lasted for only 20 minutes and the Maroons were playing a 32 minute game.

A pressuring zone defense thrown on the Steelers caused all kind of problems for West which included 6 second quarter turnovers. But, the Maroon's 6-6 center Dave Mordhorst kept the Steelers far enough away at the half. He dropped in 11 points.

North accomplished one good thing in the second 16 minutes of play. It got Mordhorst in foul trouble. The big guy didn't score a single tally from then on. However, the Steeler's combat with a very physical West squad simply ran them out of gas as the Maroon's Ben Smith loaded up with a full tank.

"We can not play physically for 32 minutes," said Ohlendorf. "We even get tired after an hour and a half of practice. West really put it on us. The kids are just not ready to play on that level yet."

Steve Tritschuh came off the Steeler bench and tried to ignite a spark on the otherwise smoldering North team. He drilled three of four shots in the third quarter. The Steelers were just too tired, though. They were outscored 16-8.

"In the middle of that third quarter, we had three straight turnovers and a missed shot," said Ohlendorf. "They got disorganized and were a mental tick slower. When you're tired, everything goes."

In the frame West rolled off 10 unanswered points, mostly from a gunning Smith. Held to seven first half tallies, he connected on

Steamers over Force

the Press-Record

CLEVELAND — The St. Louis Steamers' 3-1 victory over Cleveland before Wednesday night was important in more ways than one. It was the first time the St. Louis team had won a game in the Major Indoor Soccer League's Central Division and it broke a seven-game losing streak for the Force at home.

The Steamers were up to their old tricks of playing better in the first half than the second — but this time, it didn't hurt them, thanks mainly to a strong defense and goalie Slobodan Ilijevski who made 20 saves to only seven for Force goalie Cliff Brown.

The Steamers scored all three of their goals in the first half. The first one was a power play goal by Don Ebert off an assist from teammate John Strelau at 6:10. It was Ebert's 26th, of the season and the only goal of the period.

The Steamers scored what

Baker to be honored

GRANITE CITY — Gene Baker, head soccer coach at Granite City South, will be honored by the St. Louis Steamers Friday night before their game at the Checkerdome with the Chicago Horizons.

Baker, 36, is the winningest coach ever in Illinois strip soccer and had led his GCHS South Warriors to five consecutive state championships. This past season, Baker's team also won the Catholic Youth Council (CYC) Tournament, defeating eventual Missouri state champ Vianney in the process, won the Gateway East Conference championship and defeated the eventual Indiana state champion, Evansville Reitz.

Baker will "kick off" the first ball before the game, which is to start at 7:30 p.m.

turned out to be the winning goal in the second quarter. The assist. As things turned out, that was more than enough.

Late in the game, the Steamers had to hold off a Cleveland power play after Tony Bellinger was given consecutive penalties — one for tripping and another for disputing the call too violently with the referee. The Steamers managed to hold off the Force, thanks to some nifty defensive work from Steve Pecher, Tony Glavin and Carl Rose. It was doubly important for the Steamers to stop the Cleveland power play because even if Cleveland scored to make it 3-2, Bellinger could not come out of the penalty box because of the double-penalty.

Ilijevski earned his paycheck last night. Cleveland outshot the Steamers 53-44.

Trojans destroy Livingston

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press-Record

MADISON — The results were simple enough to understand. The Livingston Eagles' basketball schedule found them playing the Madison Trojans, owners of an 11-game winning streak, here Tuesday.

Make that 12 games in a row as the Trojans coasted to a 92-46 cakewalk. It improved their season record to 14-1. Livingston just couldn't hang with Madison.

It must be rough when you have the luxury of shooting 63 percent from the field and place the entire squad in the scorebook. Coaches all over Illinois would give anything to have it that rough with their teams. The Trojans were hot in every sense of the word. They connected on their first six shots of the game and the opening five attempts of the second half. "We have always been a good shooting team," said Madison head coach Larry Graham. "We usually average around 50 percent, but tonight we had good shot selections. You didn't see anybody take a bad shot, did you?"

The number of times Madison mistimed couldn't have been counted on one hand. It converted on 46 of 73 tries. While the Trojans were in the process of blowing Livingston out in the first quarter, Pat Hatter dealt a big hand in the sizzling shooting touch.

He tossed in 12 points in the opening frame and never missed the cords as Madison roughed up the Eagles 26-12. Hatter poured in a game high 22 tallies making 11 of 14 shots.

In fact, there were only a couple Trojan players that shot under 50 percent. Charles Claggett joined

Venice subs run all over Metro-East 94-50

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor

of the Press-Record

VENICE — The Venice High basketball Red Devils demolished Metro-East Lutheran's Knights here Tuesday night 94-50. The victory raised the Red Devils' record to 5-9. The season, while Metro-East Lutheran dropped to 3-11.

The Red Devils were never in trouble in this one, which was quite a different story from their previous game, a 90-83 loss to St. Louis Vashon. They led by ten points at the end of the first quarter and held a 20 point lead at the halftime intermission.

William Watts was the big gun for the Devils. He pumped in 28 points, with 21 of them coming in the second half. He played only three minutes in the first half because of fouls. Archie Gardner, the Red Devils' usual leader, scored 16 points in the winning effort. Gardner was on the court in the second half mainly for defensive purposes. In fact, he didn't shoot at all in the second half. "I told him not to," said Venice coach Ken Perkins. "I had him there to direct some of the younger players around and take care of defense."

Outscoring Metro-East 19-12 in the third quarter, the Red Devils took a 27 points lead into the fourth quarter. It was in the fourth quarter that Venice ran wild.

The Red Devils outscored the Knights 32-15 in that fourth quarter. But, believe it or not, they weren't trying to run the score up on the Knights. In fact, it was mostly the substitutes who did all that scoring. "The way we ran up the score," said Venice coach Ken

Perkins. "Those were our subs. I can't tell them to go out there and not play their best. I can't tell them not to score. It wouldn't be fair to them."

Giving evidence, a total of ten Venice players scored in the game. Keith Marchbanks also scored 16 points for the winners. "That ought to tell you we didn't run the score up on them on purpose," said Perkins. "In fact, the subs played better out there than the starters. They feel they have something to prove."

The Metro-East game was probably the next-to-last "breather" on Venice's schedule. This Friday, the Red Devils play at Highland St. Paul, a team they defeated by 10 points in Venice earlier this season. But victories in St. Paul's gymnasium are hard to come by. "We know it'll be tough," said Perkins. "But we feel we can take them up there."

Next Tuesday comes what probably will be the last easy mark on the Devils' schedule, a road game at Belleville St. Henry. On Jan. 30, the going gets sticky for Venice when it travels to East St. Louis Lincoln, ranked No. 1 in this week's Press-Record large school basketball poll. After that are games with Waterloo Gibault, O'Fallon Tech, Livingston, Alton Marquette, East St. Louis Assumption, Vashon and St. Louis Sumner before heading into the tough Class A regional at Columbia, along with such powers as Madisonand Lovejoy (Brooklyn).

VENICE (94) — Gardner 16, Watts 28, Milton 12, Walker 12, Barber 6, Ware 6, Marchbanks 16, White 2, Williams 2, FG 46, FT 5, PF 19.

Lincoln on top

GRANITE CITY — To no one's surprise, the East St. Louis Lincoln Tigers are on top in this week's Press-Record poll of Class AA (large school) basketball coaches.

Lincoln (13-2) got all but one of the first place votes cast. Cahokia (13-1) got the other first place nod.

A newcomer to this week's poll is Alton at number eight, following consecutive victories over Belleville East, East St. Louis, Collinsville and O'Fallon.

Others in this week's poll are Belleville West, East St. Louis Senior, Collinsville, Wood River, Edwardsville, Mascoutah and Belleville Alton.

Warrior cagers will face two steamrollers

ALTON — The Granite City South basketball Warriors will be up against two steamrollers this weekend as they try to win their fifth game of the season. But those steamrollers are moving in opposite directions.

South will travel to Alton to meet the red-hot Redbirds Friday night and will travel to St. Jacob Saturday night to face Triad, which started the season with a bang, but has since lost its last six games in a row.

In other games this weekend, Madison will host arch-rival Lebanon Friday and Venice will travel to Highland to play St. Paul. Granite City North will be playing in the Belleville East Invitational Tournament.

The Warriors are coming off their fourth victory of the season last Friday night over Granite City North. South's other victories have been over Roxana (twice) and Plaza Southwestern.

It'll take a super effort on the part of the Warriors to come away with a victory over Alton Friday. Three weeks ago, that would have been regarded as blasphemy — at least hereby. But that was before the Redbirds, once regarded as one of the worst teams in the area this season, won on their current rampage.

Alton is currently tied for first place in the tough Southwestern with East St. Louis and Belleville West. All but one of the Birds' four victories in a row have come in conference play.

Alton started its tear two weeks ago with a victory over Belleville East — its first win of the season. Then came a one-point upset victory over East St. Louis, in East St. Louis. Last weekend, the Redbirds beat Collinsville and then traveled to O'Fallon for a non-conference victory over the Panthers. Their record is 4-7, 3-1 in the SWC.

Add to those victories a two-point loss to Gateway East Conference power Edwardsville the week before and presto — you've got yourself a team riding a steamroller on the way up.

Triad's a different story. The Knights have lost their last six games. The losses were to Hillsboro, St. Paul Highland, Madison and Salem and O'Fallon in the Mater Dei Christmas Tournament.

The Knights leading scorer is 6-6 senior center Mark Martz, who is averaging 19 points a game.

Triad got off to a good start, winning its first eight games of the season. Their record stands at 9-7. Triad is heading its steamroller in the wrong way.

Madison vs. Lebanon games are usually sold-out, noisy affairs. But this season, the Greyhounds aren't making much noise, having lost most of last year's outstanding team to graduation. But whenever the two get together, anything can happen. Lebanon does own an 11-point victory over Venice this season (in the Freeburg Holiday Tournament).

Venice defeated St. Paulin Venice by ten points earlier this season. But according to head coach Ken Perkins, that doesn't mean a thing. It's always hard to win there (at St. Paul), he said. "It's a small gym and the fans are right on top of you. St. Paul has been winning some games lately."

Steelers still perfect; beat Riverview Gardens

GRANITE CITY — Granite City North's wrestling team keeps coming up with clutch wins time and time again. The Steelers, ranked second in this week's Press-Record poll, took on another powerhouse squad from St. Louis here Tuesday. After all the dust had settled, North was still unbeaten.

In a match that wasn't decided until the last two bouts, North made the decision final with a 29-16 win over Riverview Gardens.

The task for North wasn't an easy one and Head Coach Walt Whitaker was prepared for it. "I knew they were ranked pretty high over there (in Missouri)," said Whitaker. "I was going to be a tough match. Riverview had just come off winning their own tournament last weekend. They had beaten Ritenour, Parkway West and a couple of other high-ranked teams."

"I figured the 98 pound bout would be the key," added Whitaker. "We had to win that match and take at least four other lower weight classes to be successful."

Whitaker wasn't wrong by much. Greg Nemeth gave, what Whitaker called, an incentive to the rest of the team when he stomped John Gahees of Riverview 11-5 in the opening 98 pound bout. "It gave the kids quite a bit of confidence," said Whitaker.

It fired the Steelers up to an extent that they threatened to turn the match into another run away. Mike Robinson continued the attack at 105 as he beat up Dave Hawkins, 10-4. Gerald Miller made it three in a row when he whalloped Rob Houston 11-1 in his 112 match.

The score was bolstered to 13-0 North advantage on Steve Smith's 119 pound bout. Smith captured the Steelers fourth match in as many with a 6-2 win over John Schamel. "I knew this would be a close match," said Whitaker. "I was really counting on a win or two in the middle weights and they just didn't come through for me."

North had to feel lucky it had built such a comfortable padding. Riverview pulled the plug and drained the Steelers margin. It started off close when Rodney Unger dropped a 3-2 decision to Charles Monroe at 126, but it widened. At 132, Steve Gibson lost to George Hovis 8-2 and North was thrown for another loop.

Glenn Thompson, the regular 138 pounder, was out of the line-up with the flu. Rick Brown stepped in and lost 6-2 to Bill Denny. "Thompson's absence hurt us a little," said Whitaker. "He could have won the bout. It kind of cut into our momentum."

By now it was Riverview driving for the lead. Don Gruenselder's win, 9-4 at 145 over North's Brian Corey, chopped the Steelers' once cozy lead to mere tally, 13-12.

An uneasiness had set upon the crowd at North and the atmosphere was tense.

"It was an emotional type of match," said Whitaker. "We seem to always wrestle this type of match against Riverview. It's becoming a big rivalry."

The Steelers' Scott Corey managed to satisfy the fans with a four team point win over Marty Waytus at 155, 10-2.

"It's good to have a stopper like that," said Whitaker. The luck was with North, too. In the heat of the Corey bout, the Riverview head coach, complaining about the refereeing, was slapped with a one point penalty deduction for unsportsmanlike conduct.

It helped because Bob Patton was pinned in the next bout at 167 by Riverview's Joe Zakrzewski which tied the score at 17 instead of pushing Riverview ahead by one. "The pin put us in trouble," said Whitaker. "It almost forced us to win the next two matches."

It was no sooner said than done. Tim Wrosteck held on at 185 to capture a 7-5 win over Jim Basler. "Basler had beaten Tim in the holiday tourney," said Whitaker. "He (Wrosteck) had a pretty good idea about about Basler this time."

Again Riverview's coach was responsible for its undoing. For the second time he was called for a point deduction. With the lead again, Dave Owens provided North with yet another clutch win. He won his heavyweight bout over Mark Algeyer, 4-0.

"This has to be the biggest match of the year, right now," said Whitaker. "It was a real nail-biter and I think it will give us enough momentum to do well in the Quincey Round-Robin Tournament this weekend."

South on top

GRANITE CITY — It's the same old story and has been for the last three weeks. According to the Granite City Press-Record prep wrestling coaches poll this week, the top ten teams have not shifted in any way since last week. Granite City South is still a unanimous choice as the best area squad.

Granite City North had to once more play second fiddle to its cross-town rival, even though it remains undefeated. "The dual meets aren't a determining factor," said Steeler head coach Walt Whitaker. "The final analysis is how a team finishes in tournament play and South placed ahead of us in the holiday tourney."

An uneasiness had set upon the crowd at North and the atmosphere was tense.

"It was an emotional type of match," said Whitaker. "We seem to always wrestle this type of match against Riverview. It's becoming a big rivalry."

It was no sooner said than done. Tim Wrosteck held on at 185 to capture a 7-5 win over Jim Basler. "Basler had beaten Tim in the holiday tourney," said Whitaker. "He (Wrosteck) had a pretty good idea about about Basler this time."

Again Riverview's coach was responsible for its undoing. For the second time he was called for a point deduction. With the lead again, Dave Owens provided North with yet another clutch win. He won his heavyweight bout over Mark Algeyer, 4-0.

"This has to be the biggest match of the year, right now," said Whitaker. "It was a real nail-biter and I think it will give us enough momentum to do well in the Quincey Round-Robin Tournament this weekend."

South girls beat Edwardsville

EDWARDSVILLE — When you have a talented scoring power in Chris Boyd like the Granite City South girls basketball team has, you would think the Warriors would have their attack on the offensive end of the court. It sounds good, but it's not always needed.

With the flu bug nipping at a couple of the South players, the Warriors threw an impressive defensive effort at the Edwardsville Tigers here Tuesday. They came away with a 46-33 win. It was South's fourth victory of the young season.

The Warriors may employ Boyd, but Edwardsville has a couple of speedy threats of its own. "I was really scared going into this game," said South head coach Gary Morgan. "I knew they (Edwardsville) had two good players and that was a big key. I knew about them and we were prepared. Had I not known, we could have gotten burned."

"The only thing burning was the Warrior's sneakers racing up and down the court. Pressuring the Tiger ball handlers, namely Edwardsville's hot shots, Iris Schoeleber and Amy Armstrong, South limited the Tigers to under double figures in every quarter.

"Key steals, layups, they all came off the defense," said Morgan. "It wasn't that we had an outstanding defensive effort. We were just getting down the court for fast shots."

The contest was relatively close at the half, 18-10. It was the third quarter that told the tale as South outscored the Tigers 16-5. As for Armstrong and Schoeleber, well, they were shut down cold. "We let anybody else shoot," said Morgan. "Anytime those two got anywhere open, we covered them like glue, whether they were open or not."

The strategy worked for Morgan as Schoeleber, compiled only 10 points while Armstrong tallied eight. In fact, Edwardsville placed just two other players in the scoring column. "It was the most satisfying defensive game we have had all season," said Morgan. "It was the kind of game a coach likes to see."

While Edwardsville was forced into cold turkey on the scoreboard, the Warriors put together a balanced attack. Boyd, fighting off the flu the entire game, led South with 11 points. "I asked Chris before the game if she felt alright and she said fine," said Morgan. "But, she nearly passed out after the game. Her mother told me she had the flu, but still wanted to play. She even told her mother not to tell me until after the game."

Boyd was the only double figure lady for the Warriors. They did have six other point getters with three totaling eight a piece. "It's nice to see a star get all those points," said Morgan. "But, if not, it's also nice to see the other players make up for it. Right now, I'm very satisfied where we are."

GRANITE CITY (46) — Chris Boyd 11, Terry Schaefer 8, Kathy Sierra 4, Kelli Feigl 4, Nita Graham 4, Natalie Buehler 3, Susan Trice 1. FG 18, FT 8, PF 12.

EDWARDSVILLE (33) — Iris Schoeleber 10, Amy Armstrong 8, Brenda Reagin 5, Sherrie Tinkler 2. FG 8, FT 5, PF 18.

For the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — Itis not uncommon to see high school basketball players shoot around before practice, pretending to be college guards. Maybe it's a game of one-on-one, with one player becoming college star Kelly Tripucka, while the other is suddenly an Isaiah Thomas.There is one young man who doesn't have to pretend any more. He is Scott Kabbes, starting point guard for the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougars.The six-foot, 175 pound Kabbes came to SIUE in the fall of 1979. He had a very good year for a freshman, averaging 10.3 points per game and even leading the team in assists, while only starting half the games.However, Kabbes had to make adjustments to campus life. "I found it very much different than high school. In college, classes are so important;
papers due. I never had that in high school."There are adjustments to make to the game ofcollege basketball as well. "You have to worry about being ready to play every game. You can't relax. In high school, you knew somebody was weak; you could go out there half in the game and beat them."Kabbes began this year where he left off last year—at point guard for the Cougars. However, he is not pleased with the way he has been performing. "I could be playing much better. I am not playing as well as expected of me," he said.Kabbes believes the Cougars could be a better team because they have a lot of young talent, but in order to have a winning team, this year's squad must play consistent ball the whole game.So far in the early season, Kabbes has accomplished at SIUE has been the fact that he was third in the NCAA Division II last year with a .885 free throw percentage. Kabbes also holds the school record for 41 straight free throws. One might believe he has a secret to shooting them. "I wish I had a secret. In high school and college, I never shot that many free throws (in practice)."Kabbes says all comes down to concentration and confidence and not a God-given talent.
"Anybody can shoot free throws. You're 15 feet away, and no one is guarding you."During the summer, Kabbes played two days a league at Decatur. Many

Rating scale for day care centers topic at SIUE meet

A seven-point rating scale that can help pick out a good day care center from a bad one is getting a practical test in a licensing program in North Carolina. But that is not why it was written, the author said.

Thelma Harms, director of early childhood education curriculum development at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, said she developed the scale with Richard Clifford for teachers to check their own classrooms. With very little training, parents and others can use the scale to rate prospective preschool centers or their homes, she said. The scale has been piloted in 12 day care centers in St. Louis and other selected areas of the country.

"The temptation is to use it for licensing, but I want you to read it and measure your own practices with an eye toward improving them," she told an early childhood networking group organized by Suzi Nail, chairman of elementary and early childhood education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Professor Harms explained her work and introduced her recently published scale to the seminar of state licensing examiners.

450 attend meeting on assessment data

Approximately 450 persons attended a meeting last week on assessments, sponsored by Nameoki Township officials and Assessors Carl Macios.

At the meeting, held in the Nameoki Town Hall, Macios explained the various forms of assessment reductions available to residents, including Senate Bill 1790 (which must be filed April 15), the Senior Citizens' Homestead Exemption and the Circuit Breaker, which gives elderly persons the right to own their own homes a reduction of the assessment, for tax purposes.

Macios explained that every home owner who owns or is purchasing his own home qualifies for at least one of the assessments, regardless of the age of the owners.

Macios also explained that he had talked to State Representatives Sam Wolf (D-Granite City) and Everett Steele (R-Glen Carbon) about some of the ways in which property taxes and rising assessments could be curbed. One bill to remove school funding from the real estate tax and put it on the state income tax was shelved in the legislature, but attempts are underway to revive it, Macios said.

Debate use of city scales by industry

Granite City is not likely to encourage the use of its truck weighing scales by local industries, members of the city council indicated Tuesday night.

Alderman Paul Ray Bowler of the Seventh Ward, whose family operates Bowler Trucking Co., made the suggestion, saying he had seen times recently when Granite City Steel's main scales were broken, so there was a great number of trucks waiting to be weighed when a portable scale was brought in by the steel company.

Bowler said he thought the city might be able generate some revenue by making local industries aware that the scale at the city's street department building, 1301 Adams St., is capable of weighing heavy trucks and is available when needed.

The city's scales presently are available to anyone wanting to weigh a truck or load. The current charge is only $2.50 for tractor-trailers, but a new rate could be set for industrial users, it was indicated.

The proposal brought a strong objection from Alderman Roy Poulos of the Third Ward, who said there already are too many heavy trucks driving through the care directors active in the SIUE Early Childhood Education. The session was sponsored by the department of elementary and early childhood education.

The scale sets out a point system to measure the preschoolers' world for language, reasoning, fine and gross motor use, creative and social activities, along with the actual physical surroundings in the school and the usual personal care routines.

In Professor Harms' system, it is not enough for the day care teacher to talk to a child or even ask the children," Ms. Harms said. "The scale is designed to pick out the excellent from the very best."

To make the difference apparent, the author has set out the items to be measured in every category. A good day care center rating a five, for example, offers nutritious, appetizing snacks and lunch in a clean, attractive setting. The excellent center goes a step further and teaches the child about good nutrition as he eats, the scale points out.

Prof. Harms also examines the adults on the environmental scale, rating the opportunities for service training for the staff, checking for a program calls in consultants or sets up continuing programs for exceptional children.

The veteran educator, who has taught students from college age down to 4-year-olds, said the developmental steps in the scale are based on research and are geared to give children what they need. "It is the best word on what we have and the best guess on what we know," she said.

If the scale can be used to improve preschool environments, the implications for the future are enormous, she said. The first step would be to expand to include infants under nine months or mentally retarded or developmentally delayed kids, she said.

Prof. Harms also spoke to the steering committee of the Early Childhood Organization at SIUE, which is sponsoring a meeting for young children meeting in St. Louis.

Macios said his office at 78 Cambridge Drive is staying open day and night to help anyone wanting to protest his assessment. A second meeting originally scheduled for tonight at the town hall has been cancelled, since it is easier to help persons as they arrive at Macios' office than it is to help large masses at such meetings, he explained.

Extend student picture contract

The Granite City Board of Education voted Tuesday night to extend for two years the student picture contract with the Hollywood Andrews Studio of Granite City.

There will be a 25-cent increase for the elementary and junior high school package in 1981-82 (to $3.50) and a similar increase (to $3.75) in 1982-83.

The increase at the high school level is generally $1 on the various components offered to graduating seniors; only one raise is planned at the high schools for the two-year period.

Photographic services provided without charge will be continued. These include provision of staff identification photos and cards as well as pictures of school activities for high school yearbooks.

The studio also provides yearbook pictures of all high school students without a sitting fee and regardless of whether any photos are purchased. "This provides a uniformity of photographic quality which greatly enhances the yearbooks," Dale C. Rea, assistant to the superintendent, commented.

The studio noted three increases during the past two years in the cost of photographic materials it must purchase.

In other business, the board decided to seek bids and then purchase for the Emerson School learning center a 25-inch console television set. Funds were generated from sales of 1981 yearbooks by students and staff members.

A brief discussion noted that the cable television system has been or is being linked to each school for instructional purposes.

The board granted permission for the Salem School of Dance to use the Granite City High School South auditorium May 1, 2 and 3 for rehearsals and a program.

The Lettermen's Clubs of GCHS South and North will utilize the memorial gymnasium on Feb. 16 for their annual donkey basketball game.

Also approved was a request by the Granite City Wrestling Club to use the Prather Junior High School band room for wrestling practices and meets in February and March, Mondays through Thursdays.

James Dumont, GCHS South principal, was authorized to attend a meeting of the National Association of Secondary Principals Feb. 20-24 in Atlanta.

William Fever, Prather assistant principal, will attend a meeting of the American Association of School Administrators Feb. 12-16 in Atlanta.

State department continues to seek missing Americans

In spite of attention paid the hostages and their release by Iran, missing persons in Vietnam have not been forgotten, according to a letter from the U.S. State Department received here by John J. Hinkle, 2033 Thirteenth St.

The letter, from William J. Dyess, assistant secretary of state for public affairs, was in response to a letter sent by Hinkle to former President Jimmy Carter in which he asked for information on a report that Americans had been sighted in Vietnam. The letter was turned over to the state department by the former president.

The letter said: Your message to President Carter concerning the alleged sightings of Americans in Vietnam has been referred to me for reply.

As you are aware, there has been an increasing number of reports in recent months that Americans may be held against their will in Indochina. Although the U.S. Government has thus far been unable to substantiate this information, our investigation of these reports moves forward on a high-priority basis.

We have spoken with the Norwegian construction worker who, in a number of recent press accounts, is reported to have spotted a group of Americans working on a chain gang in Vietnam. In our discussions, this man admitted that he did not actually see the Americans himself, but was repeating a story told to him by someone else. We are now attempting to contact that person to discuss the alleged sighting. We share your concern and have actively and consistently pursued a proper accounting for the Americans still missing in Southeast Asia. We have raised the subject in all our contacts with Vietnamese authorities, making clear the importance we attach to obtaining as much information as possible as well as the return of recoverable remains.

In addition, we have sought to obtain information from Indochinese refugees that might shed light on the fate of those Americans lost in connection with the Indochina conflict.

In October of this year, two American officials representing the Bangkok Office of the Joint Casualty Resolution Center (JCRC) visited Hanoi. They participated in a series of meetings with the Vietnamese that proved useful in exchanging views and exploring possibilities for further steps to resolve outstanding cases of Americans missing in action. The Vietnamese authorities provided no new information but asked for further details on some specific cases. Although the Vietnamese did not agree to our request for a regular series of meetings of this nature, we hope that they will reconsider their position and that regular contacts can take place to resolve this matter. The results of our efforts have been limited so far, but we will continue with the utmost determination until we have obtained the most complete accounting possible for our personnel.

DAMAGE RESTROOM

Granite City police are searching for three 17-year-old boys who allegedly pulled a wash basin from the wall in the restroom of the Burger Chef Restaurant, 2642 Madison Ave., last week. The boys, who have caused problems in the past in Burger Chef, fled after the damage was done. All three were covered with water from pipes which broke, spouting water throughout the room and on the floor. Damage is believed to exceed $150.

Fines here total $14,655

Fines totaling $14,655 have been received in the Quad-City area as a part of $170,440 collected by the Third Judicial Circuit Court during December, according to the monthly report from Madison County Circuit Clerk Willard V. "Butch" Portell. Distributions included $11,965 to Granite City; $1,490 to Madison; $695 to Venice and $535 to Pontoon Beach. Granite City's distribution was the third highest among cities in the county, topped by Alton with $12,990 and Wood River with $12,800. The state received $25,482 from overweight trucks, the county received $65,732, the Illinois Commerce Commission got $720 and the Department of Conservation received $750.

Senior club inducts members

Four new members were welcomed by the More-Merrier Club at its meeting Thursday at the Granite City Township Center.

Newcomers to the senior group are Henry and Agnes Ashauer, Josie Stalkoff and Catherine Callahan.

Members enjoyed their first potluck dinner of the new year, with the invocation being given by Chaplain Ruby Corbett.

President Juanita Crawley led the Pledge of Allegiance. After the noon meal, the remainder of the time was spent at pinocle and other games. Among those winning prizes was Delbert McKissick.

Mrs. Crawley expressed appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Zinn for a donation of coffee to the club.

All members were urged to attend a business meeting at 1:30 p.m. Feb. 5, when Lester Thiele will assume the duties as president.

Cut child nutrition programs

The Department of Agriculture has announced implementation of legislative changes that will reduce federal outlays for food programs for children in schools and child care centers by more than $300 million in the 1980-81 fiscal year.

The reductions are required by the Omnibus Reconciliation Act of 1980, one of the reductions are effective only for fiscal 1981, while others involve permanent changes in child nutrition programs.

The changes have:

- Reduced commodity assistance for school lunches by two cents per meal.
- Prohibited Job Corps centers funded by the Department of Labor from participating in the school lunch or breakfast programs.

- Eliminated the Jan. 1, 1981, semi-annual cost-of-living adjustment in federal reimbursement rates for breakfasts and lunches served in schools and meals served in child care centers.
- The next adjustment will be made on July 1, and will be based on changes in the consumer price index for the previous 12 months rather than the previous six months.

- Reduced the federal reimbursement to schools for all lunches served in the school lunch program by 2.5 cents except in school districts where 60 percent or more of the children were on income and received free and reduced-price lunches during the 1979-80 school year.

- Made permanent an existing provision that reduces the reimbursement rate to schools and institutions participating in both the special milk program and another child nutrition food program, such as school lunch, school breakfast, child care or summer food programs, from 8.5 cents to 5 cents per all-pint of milk.

- Lowered the federal reimbursement for reduced-price lunches to 20 cents less than the reimbursement for free lunches.

- Cut the reimbursement rate for supplemental foods served in child care centers by three cents per meal.

A black dog with a white area around the nose is being sought after Mark Emring, 11-year-old son of Mrs. Elaine Emring, 2225 Edison Ave., was bitten by the dog during the weekend.

Unless the dog is found, it will be necessary for the boy to take a series of anti-rabies shots.

The boy said the dog wore a collar and apparently had several tags on the collar. Mark was bitten while riding a bicycle at 23rd and State streets Sunday afternoon.

Funds released for pier work

Governor James R. Thompson has announced the release of $1.5 million in Capital Development Bond funds Friday for bridge pier protection on the Kaskaskia River near Baldwin in Randolph County.

The project will consist of installing concrete and steel piling on the upstream and downstream side of the Illinois Route 154 bridge west of Baldwin. The piling will protect the bridge piers from being damaged by barge traffic using the Kaskaskia River.

The Illinois Department of Transportation will take bids for the project on January 23. Work is expected to begin in the spring and be completed by late summer.

The Route 154 bridge project is the second of four pier protection projects on the Kaskaskia River between New Athens and the Mississippi River.

Shoplifting case ends with 8 charges filed

Richard A. Hogue, 31, of 837 Niedringhaus Ave., faces a total of eight charges, including escape, after he allegedly was involved in a series of disturbances beginning at 8:15 p.m. Monday.

Officials at K-Mart, 3655 Nameoki Road, first alleged that Hogue put a new pair of shoes on his feet in the shoe department, placed his old tennis shoes under his jacket and walked to the candy department, where he allegedly placed six candy bars in his coat pocket.

It was alleged he then left the store and was detained in the parking lot by three K-Mart employees. He was taken to the security office where he allegedly threw the candy bars onto the floor and tried to run.

He was restrained by the employees and was placed in the security office. Police were told. When Hogue was ordered to take off the new shoes and put on his old shoes, he allegedly ran again toward the front of the store. Employees blocked his path, so he turned and ran through the back hallway, past the security office and up the stairs to the main office, it was alleged.

Upon finding there was no exterior exit from the office, he allegedly ran down the stairs again where three employees blocked his path. The employees contended Hogue then pulled a pair of scissors from his jacket pocket and pointed them at the employees.

The employees took the scissors from him and returned him to the security office until police arrived, it was reported.

Officers searched him and alleged finding three toy dolls in his jacket sleeve. The employees alleged the scissors they took from him also had been stolen.

As a police officer escorted Hogue to the front of the store, he allegedly ran again, knocking several clothing racks over. Patrolman Kenneth Crawford tackled him near the front of the store and alleged that Hogue grabbed Crawford's flashlight and struggled with the officer. Patrolman Michael Chosich came to Crawford's assistance and with the help of three employees, they were able to handcuff him, using force, according to official reports.

He was charged in state complaints with theft, aggravated assault and resisting arrest. A previous warrant alleging battery also was served on him. Police removed nine price tags, each in the $25 to $40 range, from his coat along with two pairs of gloves and two pairs of sun glasses, according to official reports. K-Mart officials said the items did not belong to the store.

Hogue then was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, complaining of pain to his legs and back. At the medical center, officers removed his handcuffs and legcuffs and he was taken to the X-ray department. While X-rays were being taken, he allegedly jumped off the table in his hospital gown and ran out a back door, through a construction area and out of the building, where he was seen running south on Iowa St.

Officers were unable to locate him and believe he went to a nearby relative's home where he obtained clothing. Later, he was seen near Mercer Mortuary, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave., where officers chased him on foot and subdued him, using force to handcuff him, police said.

Hogue suffered a cut to his head and was returned to the medical center where his injury was sutured and X-rays were taken. He then was returned to the Granite City Police Building, where additional state charges of escape, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct were filed against him. He was lodged.

Stabbing case is closed by police

Granite City police say they have "closed the books" on the stabbing of Dennis Horton, 30, of 2512 Northbridge, because the parties involved in the dispute leading to the stabbing do not wish to prosecute each other.

Horton was stabbed twice in the abdomen after he allegedly approached the auto of a resident of the 2100 block of Clark Avenue in the man's driveway and punched the man, who then grabbed a knife and stabbed Horton, police were told. Horton suffered a nine-inch stab wound across his abdomen and a two-inch stab to the left side of his abdomen, according to authorities. He is recuperating from his wounds.

Old Capitol to be closed on weekends

The Board of Trustees of the Illinois State Historical Library has directed that the Old State Capitol state historic site in Springfield be closed to the public on Saturdays, Sundays and all state of Illinois holidays beginning Saturday, Feb. 14.

The directive applies for an indefinite period and exceptions will be made only for a limited number of special events throughout the year. The Old Capitol has been open seven days a week except for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day since the reconstructed building was opened to the public Nov. 15, 1976.

"The board took this step with reluctance," State Historian William Alderfer said, "but after thoroughly reviewing the library's budgetary situation, felt that closing the building on weekends and the slowest visitation days and those least likely to interfere with school tours—was the least objectionable option available."

The building, on the square in downtown Springfield, served as the Illinois Statehouse from 1839 to 1876, when state government moved into the present capitol. It was in the Old Capitol that Abraham Lincoln practiced law, delivered his famous "House Divided" speech in 1858, and began organizing his administration following his election as president in 1860. The state reconstructed the building in the 1960s and opened it as a historic site. The historical library occupies three floors beneath the structure.

NEW STATE LABOR DEPARTMENT HEAD
Governor James R. Thompson has announced the appointment of William M. Brogan, Oak Lawn, as director of the Illinois Department of Labor. Brogan, 55, an Operating Engineers' officer, will succeed William M. Bowling effective Feb. 9.

Thompson said, "As director the past four years, Bowling has done an excellent job. Despite high unemployment, at least 90 percent of all initial unemployment benefit checks are issued within 14 days from the end of the first week of eligibility. When he was appointed in 1977, Illinois ranked 46th of all the states in the payment of timely unemployment insurance benefits; we now rank fourth."

Philippines; Anthony Evanoff and Ken Paterson, both of Granite City. Trooper McGreevey is the only female trooper that is SWAT trained. She also is a military policeman in the reserves. On duty she is in a patrol car by herself and is knowledgeable in police work, as well as several of the martial arts.

Estate planning seminar Jan. 28

Farm Extension Adviser
An Estate Planning Seminar will be held Wednesday, Jan. 28, at the American Legion Hall in Breese. The program starts at 10 a.m.

Al Bock, University of Illinois law specialist, will be the speaker. Bock will be covering a wide range of topics. He will discuss the Tax Reform Act of 1976. This act provides for an "actual use" valuation for qualifying real property. Farmers who may benefit from farmland "actual use" valuation should consider taking steps now to insure that their estates will meet the qualifications.

Following are three requirements that must be met before an estate can qualify for "actual use" valuation. Farmers or members of their family must materially participate in the management of the farming business. Final regulations regarding material participation have recently been issued by the treasury.

The real and personal property used in farming must make up at least 50 percent of a farmer's assets. The real property used in farming must make up at least 25 percent of their total assets.

These rules may influence the kind of property that is transferred to others through gift-giving programs.

For more information about estate planning, interested persons may attend the Estate Planning Seminar at Breese. Registration fee is $2. You can preregister by calling the Madison County Extension office at 656-8400 or mailing name, address and registration fee to 900 Hillsboro, Box 427, Edwardsville, Ill. 62025.

A grain farmer entered a wet holding bin that automatically fed the dryer. As the grain moved from the holding bin into the dryer, the farmer was drawn into the wet grain and suffocated.

This year will not pass without several grain drownings as described above. The important thing is that Madison County farmers don't become part of these statistics.

The ingredients of a grain tragedy include a large storage facility, fast grain handling procedure, operator carelessness and ignorance of the hazards. Such accidents most commonly occur when a farmer enters a grain bin while the unloader is running. Before he knows what has happened, he is caught in the grain flow. It only takes four seconds to become helpless in moving grain and five seconds to be submerged.

Even if grain flow stops, escape is not easy once you're trapped. Like water pressure, the grain puts a lateral force against a person, making it hard to move. A person lying prone and covered by only a foot of grain is under a force of more than 300 pounds.

When you enter a dangerous bin situation, wear a rope and safety harness and make sure somebody who can pull you out is nearby.

If you become trapped in a grain bin, stay near the outer wall and keep moving. Walk up the bin wall until you are above the grain or until the flow stops.

We have a large number of educational meetings on a variety of homeowner and agricultural topics each year. During the winter months, a letter listing the educational programs available through the Extension office is mailed. Anyone interested in being placed on the Extension mailing list to receive information on agriculture or homeowner programs should contact the Extension office at 900 Hillsboro, Edwardsville, or phone 656-8400.

January is the time to start planning your 1981 vegetable garden. To the homeowner in planning, we have available at the Madison County Extension office the Illinois Vegetable Garden Guide. The garden guide sells for $2.

The first one-third of the garden guide deals with the various aspects of planning, preparing, planting and caring for the garden and starting plants at home. The remaining two-thirds of the book contains detailed information about 40 major vegetables, 17 minor vegetables and 16 herbs. It also covers recommended varieties, when and how to plant, care, harvesting, disease and insect problems. The book contains information on storing and exhibiting vegetables.

Student writes of plank roads

The December issue of Illinois History magazine—a publication for teenagers sponsored by the Illinois State Historical Society, deals with "Internal Improvements" and one of the articles is by Mike Zukas, a student at Granite City High School, South.

His article on "The Plank Road Experiment" follows:

The Internal Improvements Act of 1837 provided for the construction of roads throughout the state.

The Great Western Mail Route would connect St. Louis and Vincennes, and a road-building fund of $200,000 was to be distributed among several counties.

The enormous costs of construction, which had not been predicted, doomed the completion of these internal improvements.

Consequently, during the mid-1800s, travel on the roads of Illinois continued to be a serious problem.

The vast prairie's rich, thick topsoil turned to clinging mud during the rains of spring and autumn, froze into jarring, wagon-wrecking ruts during the winter, and disintegrated into choking dust in the summer.

Travel in carriages and wagons was nearly impossible much of the year, and loads could be moved only with great expense and effort during the remainder.

The renewed prosperity of the 1840s brought with it a rising interest in improved transportation routes.

Robert Dale Owen, who was an expert on modern road construction in 1850, told of the winter of 1849, when the citizens of McLeansboro, Ill., ran out of coffee, sugar, and other necessities.

Because of road conditions, they were unable to travel to Shawneetown, about fifty miles away, for fresh supplies. The farmer, who boasted of having the best four-horse team, finally volunteered to risk the journey.

He reached Shawneetown only with great effort, and took on half a wagon load of needed supplies.

He returned to McLeansboro after ten days with an empty wagon. Two of his horses had died making the trip and the supplies, in desperation, had been left in a seemingly bottomless mudhole.

Hardships of this kind were not uncommon and led to experiments with plank roads.

The plank road was a Russian invention which was used in New York.

Proponents of the roads boasted that this system would lift the prairie out of the mud.

This type of road was constructed of oak or walnut planks, eight feet long and three inches thick, and was laid on the open prairie.

Illinois was among the first states to pass legislative action authorizing incorporation of plank road companies.

By September 1848, traffic opened on a ten-mile stretch of plank road between Chicago and Riverdale.

The total cost of the road was $16,000. During the first month of operation, $1,500 was collected.

Tolls were mandated by state law. Thirty-seven and a half cents for a four-horse vehicle, twenty-five cents for a horse and rider were charged for the privilege of using the new road.

This high income attracted other companies into the plank road construction business, and within a few years plank roads extended to other parts of the state.

By the middle of 1851, about one million dollars had been invested in 600 miles of plank roads in Illinois.

The plank roads disappeared rapidly. Construction companies failed to reserve adequate sums to properly maintain the roads, which deteriorated more quickly than had been expected.

Rough, expensive, and even dangerous, the plank roads were eventually abandoned.

The rise and fall of the plank road experiment took place in a little more than a decade.

It was not until the next century that Illinois again seriously attempted to resolve the problem.

By then the plank roads had long been forgotten.

Mission at St. Elizabeth

A five-day mission will be held at St. Elizabeth parish, 2600 Pontoon Road, Feb. 8 through 12 at 7:30 p.m. This program is aimed at leading people to a renewed and deeper commitment to the Church.

Father Patrick Hawk, a Granite City native and Redemptorist priest, will lead leadership in offering the five-point program.

First night—The Bible, representing God's communication to man and salvation as God's plan for our happiness.

Second night—The crucifix, as Jesus' way of life through death to our renewal of a personal faith in Jesus and the Eucharist as something we are.

Third night—Easter candle, representing the risen Jesus as Lord of light and healing giving us the way of living a life of conversion with power for reconciliation through the Holy Spirit and the Sacraments.

Fourth night—Loaf of Bread, Jesus' food for the way a faith and way of life with deeper understanding of the Eucharist as something we are.

Fifth night—The Altar, Jesus pouring himself out for us, reminding us that we have a vocation of service and a call to minister in our church as a community of faith-filled people. We celebrate the ending of the mission at mass.

Registration is open to St. Elizabeth parish, other parishes and people of other faiths.

Without the use of kits, quality of evidence collected from rape victims generally was haphazard and insufficient, according to law enforcement officials.

Governor James R. Thompson approved legislation last week to provide state funds for the first time to purchase rape evidence collection kits for distribution by the Department of Public Safety to Illinois hospitals.

Federal funds were used in the past to purchase the kits, but cutbacks at the federal level eliminated the funding, which was provided through the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission.

Despite the cutoff in federal funding, I believe women in Illinois who are the victims of attacks must have the most consistent and reliable law enforcement support possible. Use of a standard evidence collection kit has been credited with an increase in the conviction rate for the crime of rape," Thompson said.

Supporters of the state funding stressed that proper collection of evidence is vital to successful prosecution of rape or sexual assault cases. The measure provides $17,500 for the department to buy 3,500 "Vital Evidence Collection Kits" for distribution and use by physicians at Illinois hospitals.

Illinois Uniform Crime Reports shows an increase of 16 percent in rape cases reported in the first six months of 1980. Reporting of the kits in April, and the of the VA's $22 billion budget, over two-thirds is spent in direct payments to veterans and the next largest share goes for medical care.

REPORTS BY QUANTICO Marine Pvt. Victor E. Peralzo, son of Armin E. and Lucia M. Lix of Rural Route 2, Granite City, has reported for duty at the Marine Corps Development and Education Command, Quantico, Va. He joined the Marine Corps in November 1979.

According to Ed Carly, director of the Craft Shop, registration for the six-week credit classes is open until Jan. 23, with classes beginning the week of Jan. 26. Fees for the six-week classes, which meet once a week for two hours, range from $15 to $27 and cover instruction and supplies.

Workshops offered include painting, ceramics, kids' workshops, pencil drawing, photography, and stained glass. Since class sizes are limited and advanced registration is required, Carly advises people to sign up early.

Carly also added that these classes are designed with beginner in mind. "This series of non-credit classes are for the beginner, for the person who always had a desire to learn a craft but didn't know where to start," said Carly. "The instructors start from the very beginning under the assumption you don't know anything about the craft."

Classes will meet in the Craft Shop in the University Center or in the Craft Shop Annex, 112 N. 4th St., St. Louis, Mo. 63102.

The 1980 Historic Sites Inventory is available at a cost of $5 from the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, 112 N. 4th St., St. Louis, Mo. 63102.

The inventory will serve as an important resource for planners and developers, as well as an aid to individuals who are simply interested in their neighborhood, and the historic preservation of the region.

Housing board may face budget squabble

Approval of the Madison County Housing Authority's 1981 budget could be held up by another dispute between the authority and the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Source of the potential dispute is a 1979 federal law concerning the length of HUD's contract to provide subsidies to local housing authorities for the operation of low-income housing.

The authority board last week agreed to extend the term HUD has to review the board's proposed 1981 budget, which was prepared in September.

In the meantime, board chairman, Mrs. Dolores Nighogossian said he would seek to determine how HUD is interpreting the new law.

Nighogossian said his initial view is that HUD may be planning to hold up approval of the authority's budget until the board agrees to extend its contract with HUD by 10 years.

He said he did not think this was made mandatory by the law. The law apparently is designed to allow certain housing authorities, whose contracts with HUD are due to expire, to continue receiving subsidies if they extend their contract and promise to keep abiding by HUD's regulations.

Nighogossian said.

It may be another case of HUD seeking to exceed its authority. He was critical of HUD when it held up the Madison County Housing Authority's 1981 budget because it objected to how much Nighogossian was to be paid.

INTO POSITION. The Ste. Genevieve cutterhead dredge moves upstream on the Mississippi River Friday afternoon to begin dredging operations to maintain the 9-foot navigation channel near the southern end of the Chain of Rocks Canal.

UNDERCOATING—RALPH'S TEXACO 22nd & MADISON AVE.

Begin dredging to keep river channel open

By PAT FOLEY of the Press-Record

The low water conditions on the Mississippi River has necessitated the mobilization of the St. Louis District U.S. Corps of Engineers' cutterhead dredge Ste. Genevieve.

The dredge, put into service Friday morning, is maintaining the 9-foot navigational channel in the stretch of river between the Merchants Bridge at Venice and the downstream approach to the Chain of Rocks Canal.

Traffic has continued to move through the St. Louis District with no actual blockages of the channel having been experienced as yet, although some groundings have occurred.

The river stage today at 8 a.m. was measured at minus 1.1 feet and further lowering of the river stage is expected. The all-time record low reading on the St. Louis gauge was a minus 6.2 feet reading in 1940. The gauge was first put into use here in 1861.

A lack of precipitation in this area and most of the Missouri and Mississippi rivers' valleys has contributed to the low water level.

Since Jan. 1, 1979, this area has fallen nearly 15 inches behind normal moisture levels with little break in the dry weather pattern through mid-February, according to the National Weather Service. The precipitation outlook for the nation covering the next 30 days shows a below-normal situation for most of the states, including the local area, with the extreme southwestern and northeastern regions of the country expected to have above-normal temperatures for the period which has already been felt along most of the eastern seaboard.

A comparison of the river stage now and during the 1973 spring flood puts the present low water problem into perspective. On April 28 and 29 of 1973, the highest official river stages were recorded at 43.3 feet or almost 45 feet higher than the Mississippi River is now.

Floyd Wade, lockmaster at Locks No. 27 here, said that locking procedures are almost normal with little ice or other problems. He did indicate that farther upriver near the confluence with the Illinois River the ice build-up was causing problems with barge navigation.

Most of the river traffic is southbound going through the local locks now. Wade said that "we do have a few barges going upriver, but these are mainly from the St. Louis port."

"Extremely low river stages south of the St. Louis District has caused many groundings and a complete shutdown of the navigation channel for barge traffic at Memphis, Tenn."

The series of 28 locks and dams north of the Granite City locks were constructed to maintain the 9-foot deep, 300-foot wide navigation channel for river traffic, especially during low water periods.

Hospice a blessing for patient and her family

By ED GURNEY

Last January, Georgia Karabec was in such pain that even morphine provided little relief.

She was eating very little. What she did eat she threw up.

One of her three children had to be with her at all times. Because of the strain on the children and their families, it was probably a matter of days or weeks until she'd have had to be put in a nursing home.

Georgia Karabec, 73, had terminal cancer.

It was in January that her daughters, Jackie Eaton of Collinsville and Mrs. Jack (Pat) Lee of Hollywood Heights, decided to call the Hospice of Madison County in Granite City. It proved a wise decision.

"They came out the same day we called," Pat said. "They just came right in and took over."

The Hospice, which observed its first anniversary in the fall, is based at the St. Elizabeth Medical Center. It is designed to allow a terminally ill cancer patient to live at home in as little pain as possible, and to assist him and his family in coping with the situation.

"They are such warm people, oh, my God," Pat said. "The most important thing about the Hospice," said Jack, "was the idea you could pick up the telephone and you could call and they would be there if you needed them."

Pat and Jack Lee, needless to say, are two of the Hospice's biggest boosters.

Pat, Jackie and their brother had at first tried to take care of her mother at her Washington Park home. Mrs. Karabec cried for hours at a time, and progressively got worse.

"This is the type of thing that really depresses a family," Jack said. "You can't imagine what it's like unless you've been there."

Mrs. Karabec was finally brought to stay at the Lee home.

Jack said the two most important benefits of the Hospice were its pain relieving medicine and having nurses on call at all times.

"Before the Hospice, if anything happened you had to get in touch with the doctor, and you know how hard that is," Jack said.

Medicine from the Hospice helped ease Mrs. Karabec's pain. "The most important thing is she was able to eat and keep it down," Jack said. "The psychological value of that is tremendous."

The Hospice personnel also convinced Mrs. Karabec's family that the family was best qualified to take care of her, since it knew her needs. "Once the girls (Pat and Jackie) gained assurance," Jack said, "it seems like it brought the whole family together."

Speaking of family, he added, "These people (from the Hospice) became members of your family, really. That's important. You looked forward to seeing them come out."

Mrs. Karabec finally had to be taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center when she suffered a broken hip. After she left there she was in a nursing home for five days before she died last April 27.

"After she died and things settled down, you realized how they helped," Jack said. "You feel like you should help other people."

He approached Rosemarie Lindner, Hospice administrative assistant, with his idea to hold a benefit dance to raise money for the Hospice. The Hospice has relied heavily on donations and fund-raising events for operating revenue.

Jack, who is president of Insurance Workers Local 145, then began speaking to unions and other groups to seek donations and spread the word about the Hospice. He said he's gotten a "fantastic reception."

Lindner said he "is better than anyone else on our speakers bureau." So far, his efforts have helped raise more than $2,200.

The money is much appreciated by the Hospice officials and their 30 volunteers.

The Hospice has served 79 patients and families. It has held two training programs for nurses and three for volunteers. Another training program for volunteers is planned for the near future.

The Madison County group has formed a successful organization for survivors, and is involved in discussions to form a Hospice to serve St. Clair County.

YMCA Week celebrated

This week, the Tri-City Area YMCA is joining more than 1,800 YMCAs across the country in a nationwide celebration of YMCA Week.

David Femrite, executive director of the "Y," announced.

"During 'Y' Week, we are inviting everyone in the community to visit the YMCA at 2001 Edison Ave. and see how it has changed in the past few months, as well as get a glimpse of what the 'Y' has in store for 1981," Femrite said.

"The changes in the Tri-City Area YMCA reflect a number of changes that have been going on in YMCAs across the country, both in fitness programs and in participants," Femrite added.

He pointed to the rapid growth of racquetball memberships as one example of change. Equally dramatic has been the growth in participation by women and girls. "In the past few years, this has been the most rapidly expanding group in the 'Y.' Women and girls now constitute 41 percent of 'Y' participants nationwide and, if recent trends continue, should make up at least half of 'Y' participants by the end of the 1980s," Femrite stated.

"Almost from the beginning, YMCAs have emphasized physical fitness," he said. Femrite also cited a number of other areas where "Y's" are focusing more attention than ever before, including specific programs for senior citizens, co-ed fun days for children on Saturdays and generally providing more youth programs.

McPike gets House post

House Minority Leader Michael J. Madigan has announced the appointment of Representative Jim McPike (D-Alton) as House Minority Whip for the 82nd General Assembly.

McPike, who was elected in 1980 to his third term in the Illinois House, will assist Madigan in directing the legislative policies and programs of the Democratic Party in the Illinois House.

"Although it is unusual for a representative only in his third term to be picked for a leadership post," Madigan said, "I feel that Jim has shown exceptional leadership qualities during his four years in the House and will be an excellent voice for Southern Illinois on his leadership team."

McPike gained prominence in the House during 1980 for his able handling of legislation to reform the Illinois Workmen's Compensation Program and reduce the cost of doing business in Illinois without sacrificing significant benefits for the working people of Illinois.

McPike, 37, is a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy with a BS in Naval Science. He also holds a BS degree in Business from Jacksonville University (Florida) and an MA degree in Economics from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. McPike served five years in the United States Navy as an officer and pilot.

500 vote to remove school taxes from real estate tax

What began as a very heated meeting of more than 500 Nameoki Township taxpayers Friday night ended on a positive note as those present agreed in a unanimous vote to support efforts to remove school funding from the real estate tax and put it, instead, on the state income tax.

The two state representatives at the meeting, Jim McPike (D-Alton) and Sam Wolfe (D-Granite City) agreed work with the people in attempts to get the state legislature to change the school funding method.

A complete reassessment of Nameoki Township by the county led to large increases in assessments for many homes and has been the subject of several protest meetings. Friday night's meeting was hosted by the Progressive Action Party at the Nameoki Recreation Center.

It was agreed to begin a petition drive to support the efforts of the state representatives and an organizational meeting will be held in a week to organize the drive. Removal of the school funding from the real estate tax would have two positive effects, those present were told. One would be the reduction by more than half of the real estate tax burden, helping the elderly and low-income residents of the state. The second reason is that the state would have no reason to impose multipliers on counties which were underassessed, since the multipliers are used statewide only to assure that each county pays its fair share of the school aid formula, the speakers said.

The meeting was chaired by Richard Kisser, candidate for supervisor of Nameoki Township. Speakers included Jim Whit, local appraiser, who said residents who plan to protest their 1980 assessments of their homes to the county of hiring a professional appraiser and using his appraisal when appearing before the Board of Review.

Norman Hall, candidate for tax collector in the township, said he would personally assume the responsibility for launching a petition campaign to remove school funding from the real estate tax. Hall said this morning he has talked to two superintendents of schools, B.J. Davis of Granite City and John Palchiff of Madison, and both agree that school funding through the income tax would be the fairest system.

They and Regional Superintendent of Schools, Gene Briggs, say the change would cause no major problems for school districts.

Numerous persons at the meeting volunteered to carry petitions through their neighborhoods supporting the change.

Those present were urged to file objections for Board of Review hearings, if they had experienced a major increase in the assessments of their homes this year.

They also were told of the various assessment reduction programs available to all homeowners and were urged to apply for reductions under Senate Bill 1790, the Senior Citizens Homestead Act or the Circuit Breaker bill.

The chili supper will be sponsored by the DeMolay Chapter and take place Tuesday, Feb. 17, at the Masonic Temple. Serving will be from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m.

The public is invited and tickets may be obtained from DeMolay or mothers' club members. Handmade items and white elephant objects will be offered for sale during the chili event and the youths will be assisted by the mothers, it was announced.

Mrs. Audrey Cormier, mother of DeMolay James Cormier, was welcomed as a new member.

Arrangements were made to attend a district meeting last week in Alton. The next meeting of the Granite City club was set for Tuesday, Feb. 3, at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Gibbons invited the mothers of all DeMolay members to join the club. Future meetings will be held on the first Tuesday of each month, she said.

Refreshments were served to those mentioned and to Doris Payne, Ruby Sullivan, Delora Baker, Louise Pavler, Mary Stuart, Tai Tsigoloff, Jo Weidner, Marcie Davie, Charlotte Mize, Marlene Forbes, Martha Simpson, Verna Stuart, Beverly Singleton, Lois Hebblethwaite and Virginia Cotter.

Trojans bomb Pirates

By PETE HAYES

Sports Editor

of the Press-Record

DUPLO — The Madison

here Friday night when they demolished Pattonville, Mo.

97-47 in the Madison game of the Duplo Tournament. It was Madison's

The Trojans won the prestigious Centralia

Holiday Tournament New Year's Eve. This one was

Madison was never challenged by Pattonville.

The Trojans led by 16 points

Pattonville's Pirates, thanks

early on) narrowed the gap

when outscored Madison

off the bench came Patrick

Hatter and he did his thing.

reel off a scoring explosion

out to a 20-point-plus lead and never look back.

coach Larry Graham. "But

the Trojans still managed a

game.

"Pattonville's not really

Graham. "They've got some good players."

The game was marred

time and again by turnovers

— both by Pattonville and Madison. "Our ballhandling was terrible," said Graham.

"We're going to have to work

As impressive as hatter was down the stretch, so were Morris Hughes and

half. With Hughes scoring 13

breaks) and Claggett

gunning the ball through the

the Trojans were on their way early.

Full-court pressure by

Cardinale wanted to get into the game. "I thought we had some good

Graham. "Hatter's a pretty good player, isn't he?" All

Hatter did during his scoring

quarter.

That was all she wrote.

a little less than four minutes.

The Trojans were led in

Hughes who each scored 19 points. Both were named to the All-Tournament First

Team. Claggett and Kervin

Stanley were named to the second team. Dupo's Rick

Doerr, who scored 93 points in

(including 46 against Pat-

was named the tournament's

Most Valuable Player.

Venice bows to tough Vashon, 93-83

ST. LOUIS — The Venice

Red Devils basketball team is

lately. Head Coach Ken

the game with Vashon of St.

Louis here Saturday with the flu. It didn't stop the Red

can throw up the points.

With the abundance of talents being scored, the lack of a head coach was needed to tell the Red Devils that defense is the other half in winning. "It was something they failed to do when they

93-83.

Assistant Coach Chuck

as head coach in place of an ailing Perkins. But the situation was not all that foreign. "It wasn't difficult

Mosby. "I had most of them in Junior Varsity last year.

hard to make them want to win late in the game."

The winning edge was taken by a little with numerous turnover by

Venice. "We made too many turnovers," said Mosby. "At

combination.

We could have won the game in the fourth quarter.

We had a chance to cut the lead to three and we just threw the ball away. It

out of us."

A defensive effort was attempted by both squads, but it only resulted in more points being scored. Vashon

whistle for 23 personal fouls.

Venice wasn't too far behind with 20.

It turned out that among the artillery from the floor, a

Vashon connected on 19 attempts while Venice hit 18 tries. "Of the free throws we shot, we didn't shoot that many late in the game," said Mosby. "In fact, we missed the front end of at least five one-and-one attempts."

Archie Gardner let

William Watts bombed away

19 as John Williams added

Vashon balanced its scoring among 10 different players and placed four in double figures. "We didn't have any inside play to stop them," said Mosby. "After they got by our guards, it was clear sailing to the basket. They owned the

ter." Jonas Cody paced the

Hopkins, Terry Waller and

Phillip McDonald all chipped

Steelers swamp Centralia

CENTRALIA — There is not much you can do to stop a charging bull, except to get

The Granite City North

day with a 54-3 shellacking of

41-19 beating of Carbondale.

The back-to-back wins pushes the Steelers season

mark to 15-0-1. The best season record for North

squad, you feel for the

one match. The Steelers' 167 pound John Morris was the

Orphans.

Having beaten teammate

Dave Patton, the regular 167

was dumped by John Pate 4-2.

It turned out to be Cen-

match. "John really felt like about losing," said Steeler head coach Walt Whitaker.

"It was a close bout,

North looked strong in the other 11 bouts. Greg Nemeth at 98 and Mike Robinson at 105 both took forfeit wins and

Gerald Miller hurried things

over Tod Bohman at 112.

Steve Smith likewise wasted little time completing his bout as he pinned Dan Pate

Tom Florenti, 9-1. Steve

as he downed James Reiser

12-5 at 132. Glenn Thompson made sure of his win when he shutout Paul Stamer at 138,

The following two bouts

brothers. The Steelers tandem came on top. Brian and Scott Corey went up

Shaw. Brian Corey at 145

pinned Scott Shaw in the first

Scouts will hold special camp-o-ree in Wilson Park

The Uniwah (Quad-Cities) District of the Cahokia Mound Council will celebrate National Boy Scout Week Feb. 8 through 14, in many ways, including a one-day, one-night special camp-o-ree in Wilson Park on Saturday, Feb. 14.

The purpose of the camp-o-ree is to enable both adults and youth to see the programs of Scouting and Exploring in action, to attract new members to the program, and to bring the scout units together for fun and fellowship.

The camp-o-ree is under the joint chairmanship of Donald L. Bridick, district

Songs, skits and fun will be highlighted Saturday evening at a giant campfire, which the public is invited to attend.

A scout spokesman said there will be an even bigger closing ceremony, following the camp fire, to mark the end of Boy Scout Week.

That Saturday there will be a free ice skating session for all registered Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, and prospective Cub Scouts and Scouts when accompanied by a registered member.

In the evening there will be an ice skating session for Explorers and prospective Explorers.

Ribbons for unit flags and patches for everyone that is officially registered will be presented.

District competition between the scout units for membership enrollment will be held, with awards for the Cub Scout, Boy Scout or Explorer unit that recruits the most new members and the unit with the most new members during the weekend.

6 file for judgeships

Six attorneys filed by Thursday's deadline for two associate judge vacancies in the Third Judicial District.

Candidates are former state's attorney Nicholas G. Byron of Edwardsville; Vaughn Robert Matosian of Granite City; Steve Maragides of Madison; former circuit judge Victor J. Moselle, who failed to win retention in November; Jonathan Isbell of Collinsville, and Daniel Slack of Highland, a former Granite City resident.

The court administrator's office in Springfield will put the names on ballots to be mailed to each of the circuit judges in the district, who will vote on the candidates and return the ballots to Springfield for counting.

Two other judgeships are expected to be filled in the next few weeks. One is a U.S. District Court magistrate position for this district and the other is a circuit court judgeship. The Madison and Bond counties have been short one circuit judge since Moses W. Macios was appointed to the appellate court bench last year.

Macios said he can offer better service to residents unhappy with their assessments at his office, 78 Cambridge Drive, where Supervisor Harold Davis and other are assisting him in serving township residents who wish to protest their assessments.

"I want everyone to know that my office will be open day or night this week to help those who need help in filling out the objection forms. Hundreds have already been filled out," he said.

Those filing objections will be granted a hearing before the Madison County Board of William Patton replaces Drew Karandjeff as executive vice-president and Irene Feeler was named assistant cashier. New board members selected were Don Partney Jr. and William Donovan.

Nameoki assessment meeting cancelled

Nameoki Township Tax Assessor Carl Macios has cancelled a meeting on assessments which was planned for Thursday, Jan. 22, in the Nameoki Town Hall.

Macios said several hundred persons attended the first such meeting Jan. 13 and it was impossible to give adequate attention to each person requiring help in filling out objection forms protesting the 1980 assessments of their homes.

Macios said he can offer better service to residents unhappy with their assessments at his office, 78 Cambridge Drive, where Supervisor Harold Davis and other are assisting him in serving township residents who wish to protest their assessments.

1980 home sales lowest in five years

Existing home sales in 1980 fell to their lowest level in five years because of high interest rates, John R. Wood, president of the National Association of Realtors, reported this week.

"Based on 11 months of available sales statistics," Wood said, "we estimate that the total existing home sales in 1980 will be 2,860,000 units. This compares with 1979 sales of 3,701,000 units and is more than one million units below the 1978 record of 3,863,000 units."

He said the affordability problem posed by mortgage interest rates of more than 15 percent curtailed sales in every region of the country. "Over the past two months, sales have declined 10.4 percent in the Northeast, 9.7 percent in the South, 8.7 percent in the North Central region and 18.8 percent in the West," he said.

Wood said one reason the market is holding up as well as it is can be attributed to innovative financing techniques being used by buyers and sellers.

He predicted that expectations of continuing high inflation will maintain the current high interest rates, which suggests that the housing market probably will remain sluggish through the first two months of 1981. Although sales have declined significantly, the median price for an existing home in November, the last complete month for figures, was 164,300, a 15.6 percent increase from the November 1979 median price of $55,600.

Receives degree and appointment

George A. Smith, a former resident of Granite City, was appointed staff psychologist at the Brown County Mental Health Services Center in Mount Sterling.

He received his master's degree in psychology last month from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Smith and his wife, Kathleen, and their children, Christopher, 8, and Shannon, 6, now are residing in Mount Sterling.

He is a 1970 graduate of Granite City High School and earned his bachelor's degree also at SIUE.

GROSBOLL TO HEAD MOTOR VEHICLE UNIT
Allen D. Grosboll, 29, executive director of the Abandoned Mined Lands Reclamation Council, has been selected by new Illinois Secretary of State Jim Edgar as director of the Department of Motor Vehicles Services.

Grosboll, a former staff member of the Higher Education Committee of the Illinois House, will succeed Scott Shearer, who has resigned to accept a position with U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon.

Hospital in Wood River will expand

The Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board has approved a proposed $12.6 million expansion plan for Wood River Township Hospital which would increase the hospital's capacity from the present 143 beds to 200 beds.

Hospital Administrator W. Eugene Cowsett hailed the decision Monday as being one of foresight and one which "takes the health care needs of the township seriously. The state planning board staff visited the hospital and saw first-hand our urgent need for expansion."

The St. Louis Health Systems Agency last fall denied the expansion request even though Wood River Hospital is one of the most heavily utilized in the metropolitan area with a daily occupancy rate exceeding 93 percent, Cowsett said.

A special meeting of the hospital's board of directors was held Wednesday, to proceed with the expansion plans, including acting on a resolution authorizing a tax referendum for issuance of general obligation bonds to finance the project. The election is scheduled for April 7.

About 92 percent of the total cost, or $11.6 million, is to be financed by the bond issue, with the balance coming from hospital revenues.

The expansion plan calls for adding two new services, a 20-bed psychiatric unit and 15-bed physical rehabilitation unit, plus 14 new medical-surgical beds, five additional pediatric beds, three additional intensive care beds, and the expansion and modernization of several ancillary services, including the radiology department and laboratory.

In addition, 48 beds are to be relocated from the east wing, which was built as part of the original hospital in 1949 and which no longer meets federal and state codes.

News notes

State Rep. Sam Wolf is supporting legislation to deter drug-impaired drivers.

Illinois state police in District 11 made 96,182 law enforcement contacts in 1980, compared to 57,005 in 1979.

A vocal rehearsal is set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 27, at St. Peter's United Church of Christ, Granite City, by the Sweet Adelines.

Belleville Area College trustees are meeting this afternoon on selection of a consultant to aid in search for a college president.

The Granite City school district's annual spelling bee has been set for 9:15 a.m. March 7 at Coolidge Junior High School.

The SIUE Student Senate voted Friday to spend $200,000 on student fees to build an outdoor swimming pool for recreational purposes. The new multipurpose gymnasium facility will include an indoor swimming pool for educational purposes.

The Illinois Supreme Court has instructed Governor James R. Thompson to expedite today to Democratic senators' appeal of the election of Republican David C. Shapiro as Illinois Senate president. There are 30 Democrats and 29 Republicans but two Democrats were absent and others were caucusing at the time Thompson ruled Thursday that the presidency could be decided by a majority of those present, not a majority of those elected. Sen. Sam Vadalebene called the ruling a shock and others said they may block Republican legislation in retaliation.

Despite an out-of-court settlement by two unions seeking to represent various Madison County government employees, final approval by the County Board remains uncertain.

Estimates are that it would cost $64,000 to renovate the old county jail for use as office space.

Troop 7 plans February events

Boy Scout Troop 7, sponsored by St. Joseph Catholic Church, is planning several activities during February when the Boy Scouts of America will celebrate its 71st anniversary.

Special events will include attendance at a communion mass on Scout Sunday, Feb. 1, Scouts and scouters throughout America will gather at their house of worship on that date.

A court of honor is scheduled in February. Scout members will take part in an outing to the St. Louis Medical Museum and a tour of a St. Louis newspaper.

Other activities will include participation in the Uniwah District's pack convention and a Scout's weekend retreat at the Holy Family Seminary in Overland, Mo.

An anniversary month party for Cub Pack 7 and Boy Scout Troop 7 also is being

The Boy Scouts of America was founded by William Boyce in 1910.

Boyce's interest in scouting was aroused during a trip he made to England when he became lost in a London fog and was guided by a English Boy Scout to his destination.

After Boyce offered the youth a tip for his services, the boy replied, "Sir, a Scout does not accept tips for courtesies and good turns."

Pressured by the gesture and started to learn more about the scouting movement.

Upon his return to the United States, Boyce then founded the BSA organization, the Troop 7 scouts said.

Singers needed for choral group

The Community Choral Society at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has begun rehearsals again, following what Leonard Van Camp considers to be its most successful performance of Handel's "Messiah." Van Camp is director of choral activities at the university.

The choral group is beginning work on the masterpiece of Johannes Sebastian Bach, "The Bachelors' Requiem." They will be performing this work under the direction of the renowned conductor, Roger Wagner, on May 21-22, on the University campus.

The Community Choral Society is open to community singers or students at the University. No auditions are necessary.

Interested singers may contact Van Camp at (618) 682-3590 for additional information or by attending rehearsals scheduled for Tuesdays from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m. in Room 1402 of the Peck Classroom Building.

What accounts for these remarkable advances? HARBITS AND HEALTH. We don't fully understand the reasons. It appears, though, that changes in what people do in their daily lives have played the major role.

Measures and better health care, contributing to the improvements.

Americans, along with people in other industrialized nations, have tended in recent years to attribute their health status largely to what physicians do.

And when they die. Current medical care can do little to overcome the effects of such habits long continued.

A study in California, for example, indicated that men at age 45 who followed a six or seven good common health habits had a life expectancy of 78 years.

The same age group who were observing only three or fewer of the habits had a life expectancy of only 67 years.

The seven habits associated with longer life were:

1. No cigarette smoking.
2. Drinking moderately, if at all.
3. Maintaining normal weight.
4. Sleeping seven or eight hours.
5. Exercising at least moderately.
6. Eating breakfast.
7. No eating between meals.

Even brief reflection on the history of disease and health tends to substantiate the importance of the way people live.

As the Industrial Revolution got under way exhausting hours and conditions of malnutrition, and crowded housing made tuberculosis a leading cause of death.

Young men who worked as chimney-sweeps in early factory days suffered cancer of the scrotum from the soot to which they were exposed.

(This is the second in a series of 15 articles exploring "The Nation's Health." In this article, the dean of the School of Public Health at the University of California, Los Angeles, discusses the factors that affect health. Copyright (c) 1980 by the Regents of the University of California.)

BY DR. LESTER BRESLOW Americans can begin feeling proud of their health record again. They can feel especially proud because their own changes in lifestyle are apparently largely responsible for major improvements in their health.

During the 1950s and into the 1960s, little progress in improving health was made in this country.

The infant death rate in the United States remained high while it was declining in several other countries.

Middle-aged American men were experiencing higher and higher death rates from coronary heart disease, when deaths among similarly-aged men in northern European countries remained relatively low.

Beginning in the mid-1960s, however, and continuing through the 1970s, America's health record improved dramatically.

Infant deaths have fallen to about half the 1965 level. Our rate is now approaching that of nations with the best records.

Mortality from coronary heart disease, which had been steadily increasing for decades and was causing 30 percent of all deaths in 1965, has declined 25 percent since that time.

The life-expectancy of those born in 1979 has jumped more than three years over that of 1965, whereas it had not really increased during the prior decade.

What accounts for these remarkable advances? HARBITS AND HEALTH. We don't fully understand the reasons. It appears, though, that changes in what people do in their daily lives have played the major role.

Measures and better health care, contributing to the improvements.

Americans, along with people in other industrialized nations, have tended in recent years to attribute their health status largely to what physicians do.

The same age group who were observing only three or fewer of the habits had a life expectancy of only 67 years.

7. No eating between meals.

Even brief reflection on the history of disease and health tends to substantiate the importance of the way people live.

As the Industrial Revolution got under way exhausting hours and conditions of malnutrition, and crowded housing made tuberculosis a leading cause of death.

Now rare in the United States, tuberculosis is still common in the developing nations.

Young men who worked as chimney-sweeps in early factory days suffered cancer of the scrotum from the soot to which they were exposed.

Two centuries later, uranium-ore miners and asbestos workers developed lung cancer from their occupational exposures, as did men and women cigarette

On a fourth of the people in this article, the Chinese—recently adopted stricter sexual mores and thereby have virtually eliminated venereal disease. And Sweden sharply cut its automobile accident rate by strictly enforcing rules against driving while under the influence of alcohol.

SOCIAL AND INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY. Thus, the conditions in which people live determine to a considerable extent their patterns of health, disease, and death.

Certain conditions, such as air pollution, are imposed on people generally. Others, such as smoking, are subject to individual control.

However, even personal control is not always within control is possible are largely influenced by the milieu in which one lives.

Whether a person smokes cigarettes or not depends on their availability, whether those around him smoke, the degree to which his education allows him to understand their harmfulness, and the pressure of advertising. Advertisers apparently play some part in the smoking habit.

Government policy, too, can affect our habits. For example, the United States goes to great length to prevent the importation of heroin. Yet, it now pushes the export of cigarettes to developing nations, where smoking is destined to cause much more damage than heroin does in our own country.

Now as in the past, as individuals and as a society, we determine to a great extent our chances for a long life relatively free of disease.

Moreover, the dichotomy of personal responsibility versus social action for health, expressed by some people is a false one. The two are closely intertwined.

People who drink too much alcohol, and especially those who suffer fatal disease from the habit, are not to be "blamed." Rather, their fate should stimulate social action to avoid similar damage to others—for example, by taxation to discourage excessive consumption, and by offering services to assist alcoholics in overcoming their problem.

Attention to personal behavior—and to physical, social, and environmental influences on health—should not, however, be taken to detract from the value of modern medicine.

Vaccines against many formerly common and often fatal diseases, antibiotics for the control of infections, recent improvements in surgery and radiation, and other fruits of medical science substantially enhance the prospects of avoiding or minimizing disease. They can contribute significantly to better health.

Thus, improving health of the American people seems to be flowing from a mix of factors: more than 30 million persons have quit cigarette smoking, and millions more have never taken up the habit.

Improved diet has resulted in lower blood cholesterol levels; better control of high blood pressure has been achieved through drugs and other means.

Medical care of premature infants has improved; and more people are exercising regularly.

UNEVEN PROGRESS. Yet progress, while widespread, is uneven.

Certain segments of the population have not fared as well as others.

likely to die during infancy as white babies.

Furthermore, young black men experience much higher mortality overall than young white men, especially from deaths due to violence and coronary heart disease.

Yet, only a few decades ago white men of all ages had higher rates of coronary heart disease than black men. Evidently, black men are still suffering the epidemic while whites are recovering from it.

Other groups, however, have even better health than whites in the United States generally.
